BRITISH SET UP SYRIA BLOCKADE

CIO TIES UP GIANT COAST PLANE PLANT

9,000 Workers Leave Jobs Today at North American Aviation Company.

OFFICIALS ARE 'SHOCKED'

Prepare To Use AFL Help To Maintain Production of Defense Orders.

(By Associated Press)

A second sudden blow at prestige of the national defense mediation board was delivered today —a call for 9,000 CIO aircraft workers to lay down tools at 6 a. m. (E. S. T.) in the North American Aviation plant at Inglewood, Calif.

The head of the CIO's United Automobile Workers union at the plant accused the board of "stalling the workers." Management and union officials were still in Washington, summoned by the board in an attempt to compose the dispute.

The union placed its pickets 15 minutes before the night shift quit at 6 a. m. and said CIO men would not report at 10 a. m. with the day crew.

Company officials, preparing to use AFL help to keep up production on $196,000,000 in defense orders, simultaneously said in a statement they were "surprised and shocked" at the strike call "while negotiations are still in progress before the national defense mediation board."

The statement said an agreement "ratified by the union membership" on Saturday declared that "no stoppage of work or interference in any way with production" would take place while the dispute was before the board. In exchange, it was said, the corporation agreed to make any terms arrived at retroactive to May 1.

This new walkout decision was announced only a few hours after the board had been roundly denounced by O. M. Orton, president of 12,000 striking CIO lumber workers in the Pacific northwest. Orton accompanied the denunciation with a flat refusal to abide by the board's public recommendation for settlement.

A closed session of the entire board today was expected to consider steps to counter Orton's refusal to request his union, the International Woodworkers of America, to resume work at logging and mill operations in the Puget Sound area.

Orton quit the capital late yes-

OPM ACTS

To Curtail Production of Sheet Steel For Autos.

WASHINGTON — (U P) — The office of production management announced today that it will curtail production of sheet and strip steel for automobile and other civilian industries in order to release rolling mill capacity for shipbuilding, railway car and other urgent defense manufacturing.

Several weeks ago OPM Director William S. Knudsen asked the automobile industry to cut production of 1942 model cars 20 per cent of this year's output. The OPM also has asked the steel industry to expand its production facilities by 10,000,000 tons annually.

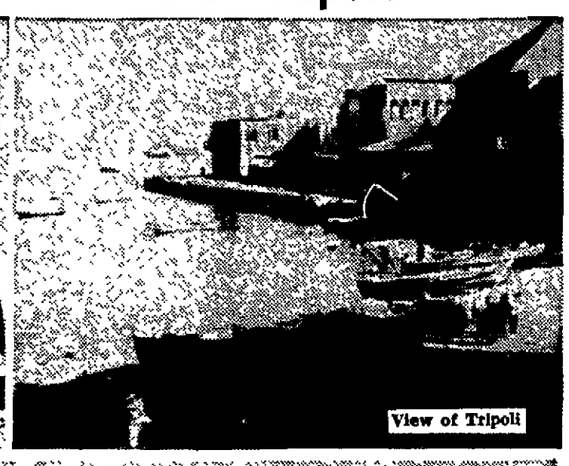
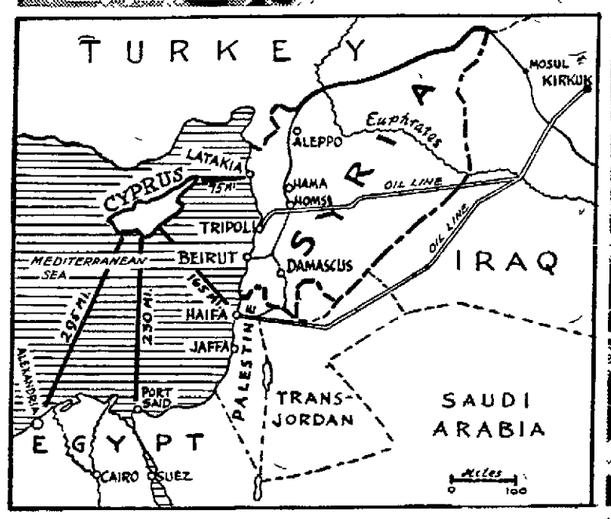
Battle for Syria Draws Nearer After British Bomb Oil Depots

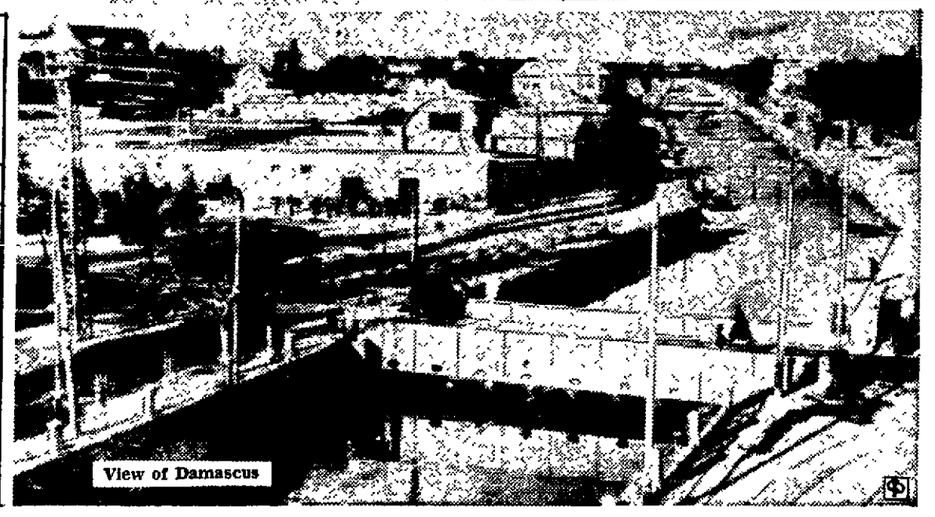
General Henri Dentz

French Colonial troops



View of Tripoli





View of Damascus

Ancient Syria, a battleground since the beginning of history, once again seems likely to become a site for warfare, following a British blockade of this French-mandated territory, close on the heels of RAF bombing of oil depots at Beirut. Syria is of major importance to both the British and the Axis in the struggle for supremacy in the Middle East—as the map shows General Henri Dentz is French high commissioner of Syria and commander of French colonial troops, a detachment of which is shown above. Other photos include views of two major Syrian cities—Tripoli, to which the oil pipelines run, and Damascus, the capital of Syria.

Heavy Units of Fleet Take Up Coast Patrols

Turkey Strengthens Defenses as New 'Zero Hour' Nears; 100 Die as Axis Planes Bomb Alexandria; 15,000 Nazis In Syria.

(By Associated Press)

Great Britain clamped a blockade on French-ruled Syria and Lebanon today, declaring them "enemy occupied territory" and potential springboards for Adolf Hitler's war machine to strike at Palestine, Cyprus and Egypt.

Powerful squadrons of the British fleet were reported massing off the Syrian coast, and all signs indicated that the "zero hour" of a vast new struggle was now very near.

Blasting at the main base of the British Mediterranean fleet, Axis warplanes were reported to have bombed Alexandria, Egypt, during the night, killing more than 100 persons.

Turkey watched the crisis with mounting anxiety. Turkish Foreign Minister Sukru Saracoglu was reported to have informed German Ambassador Franz von Papen of Turkey's concern over the asserted debarkation of German troops in Syria.

Saracoglu told the Nazi envoy that Turkey was prepared to take additional security measures along her southeast frontier, facing Syria and Iraq, responsible sources in Ankara said.

The Turkish radio reported that 15,000 German troops had already slipped into Syria, many of them incongruously disguised as Jewish refugees, others bandaged and limping like wounded soldiers home from the wars.

Under cover of darkness, the Germans were also reported landing on the Syrian coast from small fishing vessels.

Reuters, British news agency, said that a dozen or more Nazi planes—mostly fighters—were arriving daily in Syria, and that 150 empty transport planes had arrived at Rayak airdrome Monday.

With 500,000 troops in the Middle East under the command of Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell, the British moved swiftly to counter the latest German threat. Imperial troops stationed in Palestine, Iraq and Cyprus were said to have been heavily reinforced in the past few days.

France's role in the impending conflict was further high-lighted by the unexpected arrival in Vichy of Governor Pierre Boisson of French West Africa, the "defender of Dakar" against an abortive attempt by Gen. Charles De Gaulle's "Free French" forces to seize that African coast town last September.

Boisson joined Generalissimo Maxime Weygand, commander of France's North African armies, in conferences regarding steadily deteriorating relations between France and her old ally, Britain.

Diplomatic circles in Vichy, meanwhile, declared that Hitler was planning a Europe-Africa "league of nations," with France acting as a peace-making link with the Americas.

There was no confirmation of such a move elsewhere, however, and it appeared to be just another in a series of peace "trial balloons" set afloat by presumably Axis-inspired sources.

Hitler's high command reported German night raiders bombed the English industrial city of Birmingham and the naval dockyards and arsenal at Chatam in "especially successful" attacks, setting spec-

OHIOANS ELECT WILLARD BANKER

John E. Wise Named President of Ohio Bankers' Group at Cincinnati.

John E. Wise, Willard, president of the Willard United Bank, was elected president of the Ohio Bankers' association today at the closing session of its 51st annual convention in Cincinnati.

The convention adopted a resolution indorsing the government's sale of defense bonds and pledged co-operation in the national defense program.

Other officers elected today were: E. D. Reese, Newark, vice president, and Leland A. Stoner, Columbus, treasurer.

Maj. H. W. Drane Lester, Washington, former federal bureau of investigation agent who was scheduled to speak on the convention program, was reported killed in an auto accident at Elizabethtown, Ky., convention delegates were informed.

Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, New York clergyman, told the convention yesterday that "the attitude of Hitlerism, which places Hitler before God, is blasphemy."

Dr. Peale told the bankers that America must preserve liberty and constitutional government at all cost because "life is not worth living unless we can live under the benediction of freedom."

Ohio members of the American Bankers association elected the following officers to the national organization: J. D. St. John, Toledo, member of the executive council; K. B. Ledman, Portsmouth, vice president of the national bank division; C. H. Houser, Fostoria, vice president of savings banks division; A. F. Reed, Warren, vice president of state bank divisions; William E. Anderson, Cincinnati, vice president of trust divisions; Charles H. Mylander, Columbus, member of nominating committee; and Clark Will, Circleville, alternate on nominating committee.

One Week Left to File, Who's Going to Run for Mayor's Job?

Locke Says He Hasn't Decided Yet and Sees No Need to Hurry; Denies He Has Split With Crafton.

With the deadline for filing petitions only eight days away, Mansfield's mayoralty race remains as clouded as ever today with Mayor William J. Locke and other possible candidates for the post maintaining their silence. As yet, no Democrat of Republican has filed or taken out a petition for the office.

Locke announced today that he had made no decision yet. He said he had conferred with party leaders but that he had not decided whether to seek a second term. Republican committee leaders said last week that they would endorse no candidate and that it was assumed that the mayor would seek re-election

John O'Donnell, chairman of the Democratic executive committee, said that no candidate had been endorsed and that the party would maintain its usual "hands-off" policy until after the primary.

Political observers have declared repeatedly, however, that Locke's candidacy is a certainty.

"I have until next Friday to make my announcement," said Mayor Locke. "Only five names are needed on a petition. I have not, however, made any definite decision."

The mayor stated that he could earn more money in business and that he would be losing money for himself by retaining the post.

Earl McFarland, former Republican mayor, said that he had no comment to make on the mayoralty. He stated that Locke had not informed him of his plans.

Both the mayor and McFarland were especially vehement

REDUCES RATE

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Ohio telephone users will save more than $500,000 yearly under long distance rate reductions ordered by the federal communications commission, President Randolph Eide of the Ohio Bell Telephone company estimates. The reductions, effective July 10, will be on calls into and out of the state, he said.

BACKS UNION

Leader Claims Organization Boosts Hourly Wage Rate.

AKRON —(AP)— Without union organization, says labor leader Kenneth Statler, laborers on the Ravenna arsenal project would be making "only 40 cents an hour" instead of the 65-cent current rate.

Statler, business agent of the AFL International Hod Carriers, building and common laborers union to which all construction laborers at the arsenal must belong, made this comment in an interview with the Cleveland News, which this week described how men who could not raise a $19 initiation fee were unable to continue work on the $80,000,000 defense plant.

"If it weren't for union organization, the common laborers there would be getting only 40 cents an hour," Statler said.

YACHTSMAN DIES

Arthur Curtiss James Succumbs Following Brief Illness.

NEW YORK—(INS)—Arthur Curtiss James, one of the nation's richest financiers and the world's largest private owner of railroad securities, was dead today following a brief illness.

James, who was 74 years old last Sunday, was better known to the public as a yachtsman than as a great industrialist although his estimated investment in rail securities exceeded $50,000,000.

Bill Bars Un-American Political Groups From Election Ballot.

COLUMBUS —(U.P.)— Governor Bricker today signed a bill to bar un-American political groups from the Ohio election ballot.

Too Warm, Eskimos Catch Cold

CLEVELAND —(INS)— The Ibionnas being Eskimos, you wouldn't think they would catch cold just because the temperature dropped below 60 degrees.

Ibionna's wife last Sunday gave birth to a son, the first Eskimo baby ever to be born in Ohio.

The tragedy occurred at an outing of the Harrisburg, Ark., 4-H club. The victims were Freda Lee Harris, 12, Catherine Jones, 14, Ruby Neil Bradsher, 8, Alene Turner, 16, Lucilla Condra, 8, and H. R. Mauzy, 50, a Jonesboro plumber.

ACT TO AMEND PROPERTY BILL

Legislators Demand 'Drastic' Revision of Property Seizure Proposal.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Congressional demands multiplied today for drastic amendment of the administration legislation empowering the president to requisition any property needed for defense.

Even Senator George (D.-Ga.), the acting majority leader, declared that "this bill could not pass in its present broad, sweeping form."

George, chairman of the powerful foreign relations committee, asserted that it was "absolutely necessary" that a specific time limit be placed on the proposed powers. As the measure stands, the president could take over property "temporarily or permanently," in his own discretion.

George, however, said he believed requisition legislation was necessary in some form "to prevent interruption to the defense structure we are building up."

There also was senate talk today of an amendment providing that Mr. Roosevelt could take over plants only when strikes or other

Ashland Survivors Of Zamzam Ready To Return Home

ASHLAND—Rev. and Mrs. Curtis G. Morrill and their two children of Ashland, who were rescued when the Egyptian steamer Zamzam was sunk May 18 by the Nazis, have been ordered to return to Ashland, Mrs. Maude Fickes, mother of Mrs. Morrill, had been informed today in a telegram.

The message came from the board of foreign missions of the Brethren church at Long Beach, Cal. It read: "All well. Funds intact. Ordered home and are awaiting booking."

Relatives believe the Morrills are now in Spain.

The Morrills left Ashland early in March for Africa where Rev. Morrill was scheduled to do missionary work. They were aboard the Zamzam when it was reported missing in the South Atlantic with 323 persons aboard.

The following day a Nazi report said the passengers were safe at St. Jean de Luz in German-occupied France.

WOOSTER WOMAN SAFE

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Mrs. Eleanor H. Mattison, wife of Gordon Mattison, Wooster, O., was one of five women reported safely evacuated from Baghdad, scene of rioting and recent fighting between British and Iraq forces. Paul Knabenshue, American resident minister, reported the women safe in Basrah or India.

PORTENT: Alexandria Raid Seen as Start of Nazi Drive

(By Associated Press)

LONDON—With a shower of bombs officially reported to have killed more than 100 persons last night at Alexandria, main base of the British Mediterranean fleet, the Axis has delivered the first of its threatened heavy blows at the Suez canal defenses, according to qualified observers.

The assault, on which there was little direct information, well may have been the preliminary for the main event of a struggle for dominance of the Mediterranean and the Middle East which already threatens to involve a large segment of the French empire.

Bombing of Alexandria, London's qualified commentators said, is the logical step following German-Italian occupation of the Greek island of Crete.

Cyprus, a British island base at the northeastern corner of the Crete-Alexandria-Cyprus triangle, was regarded as of lessened importance to the Axis, now that German bombers have fields in Crete, Syria and Libya from which to blast at Suez.

Alexandria is well within 500-mile or two-hour bomber range of Cretan, Syrian and Libyan airfields.

Thus, the report of the heavy aerial assault on Alexandria was taken to mean that the air battle of Suez had started full blast, fulfilling the German high command statement that there would be no lull after the conquest of Crete.

OFFER: Abetz Brings New German Proposals to French

(By United Press)

VICHY—Gen. Maxime Weygand, French colonial commander-in-chief, delayed his departure for North Africa today as news was received that Otto Abetz, German diplomatic envoy, had returned to Paris from Berlin with fresh German terms for "cooperation."

Weygand decided to remain here until Saturday at least, and to attend a conference tomorrow on French metropolitan and colonial reconstruction. It was asserted that the chief subjects for discussion would be the empire's role in supplying France with necessities and the financing of colonial industrial and agricultural expansion.

Abetz, it was said, took to Paris replies to French proposals which would permit early resumptions of negotiations for "alignment of general Franco-German policies on a basis of mutual concession."

Denying reports that German troops had landed in Syria and that France had secretly made colonial bases available to German warships, the government propaganda agency said:

"These new lying accusations add to an already long series of inventions and allegations broadcast by the British propaganda service. French public opinion will have no difficulty in recognizing them as intended to furnish justification for an anti-French plan of action."

A French survey published here said that Britain now had in the Mediterranean basin 700,000 well seasoned and acclimated troops, including 400,000 in Africa; 1,200 first line tanks and 2,000 airplanes, plus an unknown number of new American planes.

Germany and Italy, it was said, had 350,000 seasoned and acclimated troops, of whom 200,000 were Germans; 1,100 tanks and 1,200 planes. It was pointed out that Germany had the whole of its European forces and supplies from which to draw.

Cooing Fills Air as Pigeon Wife Rejoins Injured Mate

The cooing of two re-united birds, separated for more than a week, this morning filled the courtyard behind the Mansfield Central Fire station. Two racing pigeons, parted since the male was injured by an auto last week, were finally back together again.

The pigeons were installed in a new home, which firemen built from orange crates, to set up housekeeping until the husband pigeon's tail-feathers have healed sufficiently to continue flight.

The injured bird was picked up last week by Patrolman George F. Yoakum who brought it to the fire station. The pigeon pined and yesterday sympathetic firemen sent out an S. O. S. for the mate.

A family on East Third street noticed that a strange female pigeon was staying in the neighborhood and called Miss Helen Workman, assistant dog warden, to protect the bird from dogs and children.

Miss Workman did not know of the wounded pigeon at the fire station, and upon advice from bird-fanciers, released it in a game preserve on Olivesburg road.

The assistant warden said that racing pigeons mated for life and that one would not leave the city until the other was found. Bird-fanciers said that it was not uncommon for racing pigeons to die

He's Day Old, Mother's 16, And Great-Grandmother's 49!

Charles Lynn Shrewsberry—age one day—is making most of the noise today in the maternity ward at Mansfield General hospital but his whole family has something to shout about.

Let's begin with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shrewsberry, 254 Park avenue east. Hospital attendants believe that Mrs. Shrewsberry is the youngest mother ever to be admitted to General hospital. She's just 16.

And the father. Well, you know how it is at times like this. Fathers are able to get around but you can't see them for pride and they can't see you for smoke from their freely-proffered cigars.

But young Charles Lynn's record family doesn't stop there. No sir.

His grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. C. Altman, 336 South Diamond street and do you know how old the grandmother is. She's 31, or at least that's what HER mother says. And being a grandmother at 31 must be something of a record anywhere.

Think that's something, huh? Well, listen to this:

Charles Lynn Shrewsberry's great-grandmother is just 49. She is Mrs. Clarence Wynn, 17½ East Temple court.

And if Mrs. Wynn isn't the youngest great-grandmother on record she says she's certainly the proudest.

ENDS TASK OF MAILING BLANKS TO REGISTRANTS

One Richland Board Finishes Sending Questionnaires To 3,584 Draftees.

Selective service board No. 1 in Mansfield today became the first of the three Richland county boards to complete the mailing of questionnaires to all of its registrants for military training.

Todd Patton, clerk of Board 1, said all of the 3,584 men registered in the district should have their blanks by tomorrow. The board has classified 2,800 men, more than either of the other two boards.

Questionnaires had been mailed today to 7,884 of the county's 9,532 registrants. Board 2 has 2,000 questionnaires and Board 3 has sent blanks to 2,300 men.

Approximately 6,400 men have been classified by the three county boards, figures showed today. They include 2,800 by Board 1, 1,600 by Board 2 and 2,000 by Board 3.

Physical examinations probably will be conducted next week at the Mansfield Armory for college students who were deferred earlier in the year to permit them to finish the school term, board clerks said.

Students who pass the examinations will be available for call late this month and early in July.

With the registration of youths who have become 21 since last Oct. 16 set for July 1, the Richland county boards will have to begin mailing questionnaires and classifying the new registrants after the registration is completed.

Board 2, with a large number of volunteers, has had to call men only to No. 768 to fill its quota to mid-June, Clerk Bryan Styert said. He pointed out that a number of the volunteers had higher numbers which will reduce the number of eligible men toward the end of the list of registrants. The board has 2,810 men registered.

Windsor Resident Sues After Loss of Arm In Accident.

James Au, 24, of Windsor had filed a suit in common pleas court today for $25,000 damages for the los of his left arm in a traffic accident last April 12 on U. S. Route 42 northeast of Mansfield.

The action is against Joseph G. Weber, 22, Mansfield driver of a car which figured in a collision with one driven by Au.

Au's car plunged over a 12-foot embankment after the collision and his arm was so badly mangled that amputation was necessary. He states in his petition that loss of the arm makes it virtually impossible for him to earn a living.

He contends that Weber was driving at excessive speed and was negligent in the operation of his car. Attys. Beam and Beam and Frank S. Culp represent Au.

CIO TIES UP PACIFIC COAST PLANE PLANT

9,000 Workers Walk Off Jobs Today at North American Aviation Company.

terday, issuing a statement accusing the board of "bulldozing" and "strikebreaking." His action was regarded as an open challenge to President Roosevelt's request, in his "unlimited emergency" speech, that labor and industry follow the "impartial recommendations" of the mediation agency.

Orton charged that the board's recommendations for ending the 26-day-old strike did not differ from employer proposals.

Complete shutdown of the North American plant was predicted by W. P. Goodman, UAW plant chairman. But rival AFL members of the Aeronautics Machinists union said they would man the machines, and police assigned 50 officers to patrol the vicinity.

The CIO is demanding of North American an increase from 50 to 75 cents hourly in beginners' pay and a general increase of 10 cents an hour.

Imminent threats of strike action in two other essential ingredients of national defense, coal and aluminum, faced the board.

Postponed from yesterday was a board conference with northern and southern soft coal mine operators and the United Mine Workers (CIO). The board has summoned them to hear its recommendations for ending the wage dispute involving 400,000 miners in seven states of the Appalachian fields.

Two strikes were settled last night.

In San Francisco 4,500 striking CIO warehouse men voted to accept a 7½ cent hourly wage increase for upwards of 700 women workers, and to return to work today in 190 warehouses in the bay area.

At Detroit Federal Conciliator James F. Dewey persuaded 8,100 members of the Steel Workers Organizing committee to go back to work at the Great Lakes Steel corporation, which turns out steel for tanks, munitions and automobiles.

He promised they would get "as good a contract as any" in the industry if they ended the 28-hour stoppage, which CIO leaders said was "unauthorized."

In San Francisco AFL machinists joined CIO machinists in rejecting a senate committee proposal to end the bay area shipyard strike, now in its 26th day. The AFL group moved last night to notify the committee investigating national defense that it would continue the strike and negotiate for a settlement. Similar action was taken last week by CIO machinists.

Aluminum Strike at Cleveland Delayed

Normal production was reported today at five huge Cleveland plants of the Aluminum Co. of America, where a strike called for last midnight was held off pending conferences by the national defense mediation board.

Officials of the CIO Die Casting Workers earlier cancelled orders for a walkout, but feared their members would refuse to stay on the job. CIO leaders said the men were irked because the board planned no hearings on the dispute before Monday.

The die casters are asking a 72-cent minimum wage boosted to 75 together with a general increase of 4½ cents an hour. About 4,500 workers are employed at the plants, which make light castings for planes, materials for mechanized equipment and aluminum ingots vital to war orders.

In Barberton a CIO union at the Ohio Brass company's insulator division called a strike after a one-week "work holiday." About 600 workers are affected.

A picket line was thrown around the plant by the Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers union, which claimed the company refused to negotiate a contract.

Company officials had termed the "holiday" a strike.

Union President E. S. Fout said demands included a 10-cent-an-hour raise on wages ranging from 53 cents to $1, and longer vacations.

Ohio Brass makes insulators for power lines.

Seventy men were idle in Steubenville where the Ohio Foundry plant closed after a CIO union picketed to enforce demands for a closed shop and a check-off system. The factory manufactures gas heaters and stove parts.

Fear Strike To Hit Local Production

With 500 workers at the Barberton plant of the Ohio Brass company on strike today, production at the company's Mansfield plant, may be reduced if the Barberton strike continues for several days, company officials said today.

The Barberton workers have been on a "labor holiday" since May 28, but a strike was declared last night by the Electrical, Radio, and Machine Workers, a CIO affiliate. A picket line was established today.

The plant makes insulators essential to the electrical utilities industry, and the Mansfield plant supplies some of the materials used in the manufacture of the insulators, Ohio Brass representatives said here today.

Effects of the week-old labor holiday are already being felt here, and if the strike continues for any length of time it will be necessary to re-arrange the Mansfield plant's production schedule, officials said here.

Company representatives denied the union's accusation that the company is "stalling" negotiations for a labor contract.

The union is seeking a 10-cent-per hour raise for all hourly workers, vacations, union recognition, and seniority rights.

factors caused production stoppages.

Senator Danaher (R.-Conn.), who announced himself "flatly and unequivocally opposed to the whole bill," contended that it would be no help in labor disputes.

"Suppose the government did take over a plant where there had been a strike," he asked reporters. "Would they send a soldier to each worker's house to force him back to work? And even if they did send him to the plant at the point of a bayonet, they couldn't make him work after he got inside."

Senator La Follette (Prog. Wis.) raised a similar question. The government, he said, would obtain less rather than more production "if there is any attempt to coerce labor."

Senator Davis (R.-Pa.), former secretary of labor, likewise registered opposition to the bill. "After they took over a plant," he asked, "who would they send to run it?"

Pigeon's Back With Her Mate

Convinced that "advertising pays" a wounded racing pigeon, separated from his mate for more than a week, stands by admiringly while Miss Mary Hughes, secretary of the Visiting Nurses association, holds his "better half" who was recovered last night. Mansfield firemen sent out a plea for aid in finding the mate after they discovered that racing pigeons mate for life and sometimes die of mourning when separated. Two high school girls found the lost pigeon on the Olivesburg road late yesterday and effected the reunion at the central fire station, after reading of the separation in the News-Journal.

of mourning when they became separated.

Last evening, two high school girls, riding bicycles on Olivesburg road near the game preserve, were startled when a pigeon settled down in the middle of the highway.

Recalling the News-Journal story about the lost pigeon, they called the fire station and a few moments later delivered the "better-half" of the pigeon couple.

Firemen checked the bands on the legs of the pigeon. It was from Buffalo. So was the pining male The description tallied with that given by Miss Workman so the firemen hurriedly prepared new quarters for the couple.

The male was taken out of the packing box he had occupied for the past week and placed in the new orange crate apartment.

Only one detail bothers the firemen more than five calls, including one from Galion police, came in late yesterday with reports of pigeons believed to be the mate of the wounded Lothario. They believe, however, that the pigeon couple is satisfied with the arrangement and the cooing murmur in the courtyard lends weight to their belief.

Election Board Wants to Read New Law Before Acting.

An act which would extend municipal voting registration requirements to rural areas at the discretion of county election boards had been signed into law today by Gov John W. Bricker, but the Richland county election board was undecided about requiring township voters to register.

George Balliet, chairman of the election board, said the board would not take action on the measure until members have seen a copy of the law and had time to familiarize themselves with it.

Under the law, the election board could establish a registration system for all county electors. Only Mansfield voters are required to register with the election board now.

Registration of Madison township electors has been considered in recent years and it was believed the new law may pave the way for registration of at least the voters in the Mansfield suburban district.

WHO'S GOING TO RUN FOR MAYOR?

in their denials that a shake-up in the administration including the possible dismissal of Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton was pending.

Questioned about rumors that he intended to withhold his petition to the last moment to "freeze" out any possible opponents and then discharge his service director were dismissed by Locke as being pointless and without truth.

"Such a move has never been considered," said the mayor, when asked if there was any truth to the rumor that he would replace Crafton with John L. Hess, sales tax examiner. Hess formerly served as bookkeeper in the city sewer department and has been a frequent City building caller.

Locke and Crafton have clashed repeatedly over several matters. Most recent were their differences on the closing of the Park avenue east subway during the construction of a new waterline and the placing of a new drinking fountain.

In both instances, Locke countermanded Crafton's orders. Crafton had planned to close the subway to protect motorists and workmen. Locke, however, insisted that one-way traffic be maintained.

Last week, a new $25 drinking fountain, which Crafton, at the expressed wish of council, was planning to place at Park avenue and Walnut street, was installed at Maple Lake park by the mayor's order.

Although no Democrat has been seriously considered for mayor, Clifford Mitchell, county commissioner, is most frequently mentioned.

Only one petition has been filed this week. Howard Miller, president of council, filed his petition for re-election. George Berg, councilman-at-large, who previously considered running for the same post, announced that he would seek re-election as councilman.

Two other changes within the last week were the announcement of Councilman C N Shultz that he would not run for the office of city treasurer as suggested by the Republican executive committee but would seek re-election to council. Russell D. Porch, First ward councilman, said Tuesday that he had taken out a petition for council.

JAIL SUSPECT

Girl, 16, Held For Attempting To Hold Up Dayton Motorist.

DAYTON—(U.P.)—A 16-year-old Cincinnati girl was held in the jail at Franklin, O., today after a motorist said she attempted to hold him up with a gun.

Police Chief Arthur Wagner of Miamisburg said the motorist, Robert Hostetter, Dayton, told him he wrested a .38 caliber pistol from the girl when she tried to rob him near Franklin last night.

Hostetter brought the suspect to Miamisburg and turned her over to police. She was taken later to Franklin.

The girl's mother in Cincinnati said she had left home May 24 to visit a grandmother in Middletown.

Army Rushes New Billion Dollar Camp Program

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The surprise disclosure that the army was rushing a new billion dollar camp construction program led informed legislators to believe today that the war department had decided to increase the field forces to 2,800,000 men, or double their present strength.

One member of congress with close war department connections said that the new camp program meant "that the international situation is such that it has been deemed wise to prepare for this new emergency that may be approaching our shores."

The first intimation that the program was under way came from the army's construction quartermaster, Brigadier General Brehon Somervell, during testimony before a house military subcommittee yesterday.

Within the previous 24 hours, he told the committee, he had received orders to rush the award of contracts for construction work totaling "about $1,000,000,000." He declined to provide details.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, THURSDAY, JUNE 5, 1941.

If this country is ever licked, it will have to be an inside job.

Some nations want a hemisphere and others would be satisfied with the stratosphere.

The Senators Have to Walk

ELECTED representatives of the people used to ride a hundred miles or so on horseback through swamp and woodland—shootin' Indians along the way, just for good measure—for the privilege of participating in state government.

But not today. This is the era when Ohio senators resent having to climb 62 steps in the statehouse to reach their legislative chamber.

They say: "The members of the house who meet on the same floor can have an elevator, why can't we?"

So they get a section inserted in the state's largest biennial appropriations bill (it totalled $352,675,159) calling for construction of a lift on their side of the statehouse at an estimated cost of $30,000.

And what happens? Governor Bricker vetoes the item.

That makes the senators hopping mad and you can't blame them, weary souls. As their veteran clerk Thomas E. Bateman points out, "The governor has a private elevator which he uses to carry him from the basement to his office."

It just isn't providing equal opportunity for all as guaranteed by the constitution.

Why, when a senator gets up the 62 steps he's all out of wind. He can't debate half so loud as a representative who rode up to the second floor.

Vital Newspapers

THE IMPORTANCE of his newspaper in the daily life of the Briton is emphasized by a story in Marketing, a Toronto advertising journal. Conservation of newsprint has made it necessary for all but two London dailies to cut their size to four pages. The Times and the Daily Telegraph are staying at ten and six pages respectively and are able to do it by sharply reducing their circulation. The Times has eliminated 20,000 and the Telegraph 140,000 copies a day. All the papers, whatever their size, have raised prices.

In spite of all this, London newspapers have lost only six per cent of their total circulations. One long-time reader of the Times wrote that he would still demand his paper even if it cost a shilling. About the only way of cancelling subscriptions, short of drawing lots, has been to refuse to continue them to anyone in the family if a subscriber dies, or is bombed out of home or office.

We believe most Americans would feel that way about their favorite newspapers. It's a reader's prerogative to criticize the press steadily and vigorously, but it's also his prerogative and his nature to demand his copy regularly and on time regardless of interfering conditions.

Basic Principles

MANY wise and helpful words are spoken in baccalaureate and commencement addresses. They deserve a hearing beyond the walls within which they are uttered, by other ears than those to which they are directly addressed. Such were the words of Dr. William E. Wickenden, president of Case School of Applied Science, to the graduating class.

"Liberty is not a heritage but a fresh conquest for each generation," said Dr. Wickenden. 'Security is not found in isolation but in the capacity to cope with a changing world.

"I do not ask you to have faith in a Providence that takes events out of our hands and shapes them in every detail; I ask you to have faith that certain principles of truth, integrity and right are imbedded in the very nature of the universe and that the man who acts in accord with them can trust the outcome of events.

"That, as I see it, is the irreducible minimum of religion without which a decent social life is impossible, lacking which man's conduct, however efficient, however sophisticated, cannot rise above a kind of inhuman brutishness."

Chief Justice Hughes deserves a good, long rest before he's called to a higher bench.

Any war is a civil war, with part of mankind fighting the rest of humanity.

Queer Quirks From the Capital

—By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—The capital is a funny place: When the Interior Department wanted 1,800 tons of aluminum cable to run over the Cascade mountains, the department couldn't get it without going through the red tape of clearing through priorities.

The cable was wanted to carry high tension power loads to a new Washington state factory to make aluminum.

National defense has increased the Capitol police force about 50 per cent. It now costs $155,680 a year to guard the Capitol and $117,360 more to guard the House and Senate office buildings.

Every week, William P. Lambertson, R.—Kas., and vigorous opponent of the administration, writes into the Congressional Record a little column of satirical or biting humor. He never had explained why until the other day, when the told the house: "I opologize to my colleagues for the little column that I put in the Record every week. I am doing it just because Ramsey Black, third assistant postmaster, said that I could not frank them out."

(Speeches that go into the Record may be mailed out postage free; otherwise they cannot be mailed under the congressman's franking privilege unless they come under the heading of official business.)

Samples of Mr. Lambertson's columnar observations:

"We do not know LaGuardia's plans as head of civilian defense, but we venture they are expensive ones."

"Consternation reigned at the State department when all the Americans on the Zamzam finally turned up safe in Nazi hands."

"The only failure the president admits in eight long years is his effort to move up Thanksgiving day. It is the only time he has been up against a higher power."

The House of Representatives restaurant has been losing about $1,800 a month—but the congressmen and management will hasten to tell you that it is not because they get their food there any cheaper than any voter could get it in any chop house serving similar food.

It's because during those short one to three-day recesses, the restaurant must remain open for service to the few who hang around. These are so few that the operating expense for those periods soars over the intake.

On the same day that a well-known aviatrix was finishing a three-day campaign for women in defense aviation and explaining how women fliers are serving Great Britain and how they might serve the United States, the civilian pilot training program officials announced they were no longer accepting girl students. The only explanation was that the program was being put on a defense basis. They added, however, that no decision had been made about girl enrollees for the summer term starting July .

Not long ago, Rep. Hamilton Fish, of New York, told the house that he had heard that the boys in training at Fort Bragg, (N. C.) were not getting enough food and that what they were gettin wasn't any good.

The other day, Rep. Hamilton Fish, who also is a colonel in the reserve, was called to duty for a month's training—at Fort Bragg.

Listen World!

Lowdown On My Job

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

"IT MUST," says she, "be a wonderful thing to have a job like yours. Often, when I start my dreary, daily job of housekeeping, I think of columnists like you, and envy you. To just sit down and write great thoughts and realize that those thoughts were helping all the world—that would be heaven for me!"

For me too, lady. Believe me, there's nothing I'd like better than the star part in your little scenario. But it can't be done. If you think that's how columnists do their stuff, you've plenty of surprises coming your way.

In the first place, I don't leap into a chair and "write great thoughts." To the contrary, I ramble around my room for the first half hour making the usual human moan. I wonder why the heck I was born anyway. 'N' why, when my hair started to go gray, it couldn't take a nice, henna rinse. 'N' why, since I had to work, I ever decided to be a writer.

After which, I chew my nails. Then sort my stockings. Or dust the mantel. Or listen to the broadcast. Or sneak off and finish that detective story. Then chew my nails again. After which, I slowly ooze up to the typewriter from a southwesterly direction and park myself on the chair. And begin at least 15 solid minutes of self pity.

Why in heck, I ask myself, did I ever start writing columns anyway? Particularly a column like mine. Of course, if it was Winchell—all he needs to do is to find someone who's going to have a baby. Or Pegler, he's done his daily dozen if he kicks some Union in the teeth. Or Eleanor Roosevelt, give her some scrambled eggs and a new Uplift Movement and she's all set for the day. Or Sobol who knows all the world . . . or De Casseres who know its number. People like that, they can toss off columns as if they were a game of bean bags.

But take me. I have no special racket. No Inside Dope. I'm just supposed to start Being Noble at 8:30 each day, with J. V. Connolly 'n' Ward Greene 'n' Mike Forstadt sitting and timing their stop-watches to see if I make it. So do I? I do not. Instead I just linger 'n' linger 'n' linger . . . and think up the doggondest drivel that ever dribbled through the human brain.

'N' all the time the clock is ticking . . . 'n' the airmail is waiting . . . 'n' I'm realizing, more and more acutely, that I'll be in Dutch unless something in me starts blitzing pronto. So what do I do? So I say the devil with it. And I stop trying to think Noble Thoughts, and I quit biting my nails. 'N' I just settle down and talk about Common Folk like you 'n' me and the things we have to face. Not sensational things. Nor literary things. Just the plain stuff from which we make our lives . . . love and hope, faith and loyalty, laughter and tears, regretting and starting again.

Not very glamorous, is it? Not at all the way you thought columns were written. But maybe the greatest thing in life, the things that spread farthest and strike deepest, aren't glamorous. Maybe they are just the common dreams of common lives, like yours and mine . . . the fears and hopes and dreams for which we have no fancy words—

Just stuff like this!

I'd like to have it so.

I feel like such a flop, sometimes, these days.

Hess Flight Puts Weidemann In Nazi Doghouse, Princess Reveals

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Inside reason for the release of Princess Stefanie Hohenlohe, red-haired friend of high Nazi officials, is that she paid for her freedom with some amazing revelations about subversive operations in this country and Britain.

One thing she told immigration authorities was that Capt. Fritz Weidemann, Hitler's World war commander who has been serving as German consul general in San Francisco, is in bad with the Berlin rulers and may be recalled.

His fall from grace, according to the Princess' tale, was due to his intimacy with Rudolf Hess, No. 3 Nazi, who startled the world by his flight to England. Berlin considers Weidemann a Hess henchman, the princess claimed, and he has been on the "blacklist" for some time.

The princess also gave immigration officials a list of Nazi "sympathizers" in Britain who, she said, have been secretly trying to effect a negotiated peace with Hitler. Several of those named were associated with the late Lord Rothermere, himself high on the list. This information has been turned over to the state department for transmission to the British.

Weidemann is not the only Nazi agent in the United States who has been placed on the spot by the Hess flight. Princess Stefanie named others, both in diplomatic and undercover fifth column ranks.

Though the Princess has been released from the San Francisco detention station, a deportation warrant still stands. She is being kept under surveillance at her fashionable Palo Alto, Calif., apartment until she can be shipped out of the country.

Candidate Lindbergh.

When Charles Lindbergh told his America First audience in Philadelphia that the U. S. should "turn to a new leadership," he wasn't indulging in mere rhetoric. Secretly, friends say, he had something every concrete in mind.

The ex-colonel is planning to go into politics for the purpose of running for president in 1944.

His current nationwide barnstorming is largely to build himself up politically in preparation for a presidential drive. To this end, he is weighing the possibility of running against Senator Joseph H. Ball, young Minnesota Republican, a strong advocate of all-out aid to Britain.

A former newspaperman appointed by Governor Stassen to fill a vacancy, Ball comes up for election next year. He is one of the very few midwest GOP senators supporting the president's foreign policy, and Lindbergh's political advisers think the flier would have a good chance to lick Ball.

No decision has been made, and Lindbergh may even deny he has such intentions. But it can be stated definitely that the matter has been seriously discussed in the inner Lindbergh circle and that he expressed willingness to go after Ball's seat if the situation looks propitious next year.

Lindbergh is an old hand at campaigning in Minnesota. He chauffeured his late father in several state-wide campaigns, one of them for the senate. And he would have plenty of financial backing.

Independently wealthy as a result of earnings from his trans-Atlantic flight, Lindbergh's wife also inherited a fortune from her father, the late Senator Dwight Morrow, a J. P. Morgan partner. Wealthy elements financing the isolationist-appeasement movement also have assured Lindbergh of unlimited funds for any political campaign he may undertake.

Wheeler vs. Lindbergh.

One man particularly interested in Lindbergh's presidential ambitions is Senator Burt Wheeler, who considers himself the No. 1 foe of the president's anti-Axis policies.

Wheeler has strong White House yearnings of his own; in fact, has had them since 1924 when he ran on a rump ticket with the late elder Senator Bob Lafollette. Again in 1932 Wheeler strenuously tried to get on the Roosevelt slate in place of Jack Garner, and one of the principal reasons for the Roosevelt-Wheeler split was his peeve at what he considered the president's ingratitude.

On the surface, relations between Wheeler and Lindbergh are friendly, but undercover the two men are none too cordial. On Wheeler's part this situation has not been improved since he has suspected Lindbergh's presidential aspirations.

Fifty-nine years old, Wheeler's last chance for the White House will be 1944; and he doesn't take kindly to the idea of having it wrested from him. He deems himself the top isolationist leader, and expects to cash in on that three years hence—when, he is convinced, a new political party will have come to the fore and the situation will be ripe for a sweeping overturn.

Such a new party already is being quietly discussed in isolationist-appeasement quarters. At a recent secret meeting attended by several wealthy industrialists, one name proposed was the American Christian party.

Note—Another America First campaigner who harbors secret presidential ambitions is Phil LaFollette, younger brother of the U. S. senator. While governor of Wisconsin three years ago, Phil launched an abortive National Progressive party that had a lot of the trappings of Nazism, including a symbol resembling the swastika. Strong-willed and one of the most effective political haranguers in the country, Phil considers himself a "man of destiny."

"Week-End" Camps.

"Weekend" recreation camps—new wrinkle in army morale activities—soon will be established all over the country. Idea is to give soldiers, particularly those stationed in rural areas, a Friday-to-Sunday respite from military regimen, plus a taste of city life.

The new camps will be located outside of those cities which can offer a wide range of recreational facilities—golf, public beaches, swimming pools, regulated dance halls, tennis courts and first-run movie houses. Military discipline will be kept at a minimum, with no reveille in the morning nor taps at night. The men can come and go without restrictions.

Each camp will accommodate from 400 to 800 men. There will be no charge for lodging, but meals taken at the mess hall will cost a small fixed sum. Soldiers will be transported to the center in rotated groups, so that every man can take a weekend off at regular intervals.

Eight experimental "weekend" camps already are in operation along the Gulf Coast, where many of the early inductees are concentrated. They have been so successful that the army has decided to make the program nation-wide.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—This water-girt island, with its castles and codes and various layers of social strata also has an aristocracy of sparrows. It is a matter of record that most of the millions of sparrows that today inhabit the parks, trees, streets, sheds and eaves of Manhattan are descendants of an original group of 14 that were imported from England and released in Central Park in 1863. Unfortunately, no one remembers the name of the ship that brought these first "settlers." And so the sparrows can't say to the pigeons, as the New Englanders do, "Not that it especially matters, dear, but our ancestors came over on the Mayflower."

IT ISN'T generally remembered that Caruso was a fine artist in addition to being the world's greatest tenor and also was the spark that ignited the inspiration for two dozen Caruso spaghetti restaurants about town.

But Caruso was very much of an artist and he loved nothing better than turning out expert caricatures of his friends and of those who weren't his friends. Xavier Cugat, who is musician and artist, too, went on a tour of the country with Caruso and on that tour they had great sport sketching caricatures of the people they met.

This is mentioned because one of Caruso's caricatures of the late Daniel Frohman, dean of Broadway showmen, is now on display at the Museum of the City of New York.

H. ALLEN SMITH is a reporter on the staff of the New York World-Telegram. He is also the author of a wise-cracking book called "Low Man on a Totem Pole." Recently he spent the better part of a week in Washington on business and returned in an American Airlines plane, dead tired.

"I hurt," he said upon leaving the plane.

"Eh?" cried the cabby.

"I hurt," explained Smith. "I'm so tired I hurt." Whereupon he fell into a cab and went sound asleep.

"I wonder which is his bag?" muttered the cabby.

"That one over there—the one made out of alligator hide," spoke up a man who had come down on the plane with Smith.

"Okay," said the cabby; he picked up the bag and tossed it into the cab. He also tossed in a briefcase, also of alligator hide. Then he drove off to Smith's address in Jackson Heights.

Several hours later, like the dutiful wife she is, Mrs. Smith was unpacking her husband's luggage. When she saw the briefcase she couldn't place it. She didn't even know he had a briefcase. When she opened it a stack of important, official looking papers fell out. Mrs. Smith hurried to the telephone and called the airport.

"Madam," she was told, "that briefcase belongs to a Rhode Island senator. We held the plane 20 minutes looking for it. It was being shipped air express. We'll be right out to get it."

Which, in the event that the Smith's neighbors are curious, is why, with sirens screaming, motorcycle couriers roared up to the Smith house last Sunday afternoon.

Let's Look Around

A Very Personal Letter to You

—By G. J. KOCHENDERFER

DEAR FOLKS AT HOME—I have been trying to find time to write you the letter that I promised before we left Mansfield on this little trip—but you know how hard it is to find time to write a letter.

There's nothing special to do, however, for the next ten minutes, so I'll take my pen in hand and tell you about a few of the things we have been seeing in and around Los Angeles—which is quite a city.

You'd never guess how much territory is covered in seeing even a few of this city's 87 fine parks, and a drive to the attractive spots in 3,000-acre Griffith park and up to its observatory would make a pleasant day in itself.

Then there's the much smaller, but delightful Echo park, alongside of which stands Aimee Semple McPherson's Angelus Temple, with a huge statue of Aimee dominating its front. She says the site was "picked by the Lord"—but in any event it was a nice choice.

LOS ANGELES is rapidly developing a magnificent "civic center," in which a new city hall rears impressively and other public buildings, including a modern postoffice, cluster around.

This is near the place where old Los Angeles had its small-city business district but which is now known as the Mexican section. Here stands the once ornately top-notch United States hotel, of post Civil war days, where the nation's notables stayed while in this city, with General Grant and General Fremont as remembered guests. One street gives a glimpse into typical Old Mexico—and not far away is a segregated Chinese section of considerable size.

MAYBE you'd care to know that Frank Morgan is just as funny in doing his stunt before the microphone as he sounds over the air, and that John Conte is a delightful master of ceremonies. Meredith Wilson does a neat job as orchestra director, and isn't nearly as nit-wit as he sounds. Then there was Fanny Brice as "Baby Snooks," and, confidentially, she isn't really spanked by Henry Stafford, her "daddy."

PLANNED as a restful sort of day, all we did was visit several of the universities, including University of Southern California, University of California at Los Angeles (U. C. L. A. to football fans) and the California Institute of Technology at Pasadena, which included a glimpse of the Rose Bowl, with its seating capacity of 85,000, and the center of national interest on New Year day. The Rose Bowl belongs to the city of Pasadena and is leased for football games, being the outgrowth of the New Year morning rose parade, which Pasadena has featured for a half century.

BEING in the Pasadena district also gave opportunity for a memorable visit to Forest Lawn Memorial park, in Glendale, which was made especially beautiful on the day we saw it, because a wealth of floral tributes still remained from the Memorial day observance. A look at "The Last Supper," stained glass window, in the Memorial Court of Honor, is among the special features of Forest Lawn.

* * *

THIS entire letter might have been easily given to telling you about the Huntington art gallery and the 300 acres of horticultural beautification that surrounds it, just at the edge of the little town of San Marino. Imagine 15 acres devoted to the display of 2,500 varieties of cacti!

* * *

SCARCELY time and space is left to even mention our drive through Beverly Hills, Westwood and Bel-Air, but it must be noted that crowds poured into Cathay Circle theater, where we saw Fantasia while pickets were marching around the place, as a part of the Disney studio strike. One carried a banner reading "We have been goofs long enough"—but appearance indicated that Nature, rather than Disney, was responsible for that.

* * *

SO THERE'S the letter that I promised, and if you have time to write a letter to us we'd be glad to have you address it in care of Hotel Temple Square, Salt Lake City, Utah, where we are planning a stopover.

With best wishes, as always,

Sincerely,
George.

A Farmer's Diary

'They're So Young'

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

THE high school band went down our village street in uniform. The drum major, a personable young man with verve and a flair for rhythm, twirled his gleaming baton and wore his high hat proudly. In the parlance of an admiring freshman, "Boy, can he ever strut! It's just too bad he graduates this year. Who'll take his place, I wonder?"

Another band member, a round-faced, merry-eyed girl in the back row, could not be content to merely keep step with the rolling drums, but improvised several sidesteps of her own, all done in rhythm without impeding the progress of the marching column. Her exuberance drew admiration from the watchers.

"She's a senior, too," remarked my wife, as we watched from our motor car. "Next year she'll take nurse's training in a big city hospital. A person might think she hadn't a serious thought — but they'd be all wrong. She knows what she wants to do, and is going about it."

"Youngsters nowadays have something we lacked," I mused. "What is it, would you say?"

While we thought it over, the band stopped and stood at salute. The stars and stripes was run up to the top of a high pole. The flag floated free and began to wave. The drum major brought down his baton and the band crashed into God Bless America.

A quiver of excitement and patriotic fervor ran through those who listened. Many like ourselves, sat comfortably in parked cars. A plane from a nearby airport swooped above the green hills. Its motors roared in the background of other sounds. The modern high school gleamed among the trees.

I recalled my own school days at an old country high school long since condemned; the circle of horsedrawn vehicles about the little white village church; the group of serious appearing youngsters in grown-up clothes whose knees shook as they recited orations at the commencement exercises. I remembered well the unconquerable urge to accomplish wonderful things, the eagerness to be wise and powerful and good that burned in one young graduate that night—now more than 30 years ago.

My companion spoke. "I don't believe they have anything we lacked, at their age," she said. "They're so young! We were just as they are. The chances are that they wouldn't answer bugle calls and nurses' uniforms now if we weren't back of them, pulling for them for all we're worth. They're just taking the field. We're on the sidelines. But they know how to co-operate and make harmony — and they'll succeed . . . maybe better than we have!"

I grinned a bit wryly. "For a middle-aged, gray-haired lady," I told her solemnly, "you have a shameless amount of conceit."

"No — honestly," she said. "Where would any of us be, if we hadn't climbed on someone else's shoulders?"

MODEL AIRPLANE CONTEST OPEN TO YOUNGSTERS

Trophy, Plane Kits, Theater Admissions Listed Among Prizes In Event.

Model airplane builders will be given the opportunity to vie for prizes in the model airplane contest to be sponsored jointly by The News-Journal and Ohio theater in connection with the showing of "I Wanted Wings," opening at the Ohio, Saturday, June 14.

Contestants up to 16 years of age will be eligible to enter models. Entrants must build their own planes. Either new planes, built especially for the contest, or previously constructed model aircraft will be accepted.

All entries must be flying scale models with a wing-spread limit of 30 inches, according to contest requirements.

Entries must be at the Ohio theater on or before June 14 for judging by a committee of three including Ralph B. Chapman, E. C. Peat and Merritt Caton. The first 50 entrants will be admitted free to the picture, "I Wanted Wings."

Judges for the contest will base their decision on four points, neatness of workmanship, amount of detail, originality in reproduction of parts, and color and finish.

First, second and third prizes will be donated by local merchants. Sam Fox, jeweler, will give an airplane trophy as the first prize, and airplane kits will be donated by E. C. Peat Hardware company as the second prize and by the Mansfield Athletic Supply company as the third prize.

SEND HOSE

Film Folk Ship Silk Hosiery To Friends In England.

HOLLYWOOD — (NS) — Along with knitting sox for soldiers, Hollywood's feminine screen stars are buying silk stockings for women these days to send to their friends and acquaintances in England, where silk hosiery is now on the unobtainable list, together with cosmetics.

Ida Lupino and Lucille Watson, introduced the idea to the Warner Brothers lot. Miss Watson recently received a letter from a close friend in England mentioning the hosiery famine. The result was a stocking buying boom in which Miss Davis, Mary Astor, Brenda Marshall, Olivia de Havilland and all the other feminine players on the lot participated.

Silk stockings, the stars decided, may not be essential, but they're a big boost to a woman's morale.

RAILROAD EAST ONLY LIFELINE FOR TURKS NOW

Outlet to Persian Gulf Is Termed Inadequate For Trade.

ISTANBUL—(U.P.)—A lifeline for Turkey to the outer world, particularly to America, while shipping through the Mediterranean remains hazardous, is the railway through Syria and Iraq to Basra, which was opened to traffic only last July.

Although single-tracked and handicapped by a narrow gage between Baghdad and Basra it has enabled the Turks to export a large part of their tobacco crop and to import manufactured goods from American and British ships reaching the safe waters of the Persian Gulf.

While the line is the most suitable for high-priced and light merchandise, there are plans to import American buses for Istanbul and American tobacco companes have been sending out 10 carloads of tobacco daily over the route.

Some estimate of the amount of freight now reaching and leaving Turkey monthly by the Basra railroad are as low as 2,000 tons, but negotiations are in progress between the Turkish, Syrian and Iraq governments to reduce delays at the frontiers and increase freight to at least 10,000 tons each way monthly. Turkey provides 50 per cent of the rolling stock and Syria and Iraq 25 per cent each.

Business men estimate that but for prevailing high war-risk insurance rates the Basra route would be 12 per cent more expensive than shipping through the Mediterranean. Turkish economists nonetheless predict great importance for the route after the war because it is faster than sea transport and avoids Suez Canal tolls.

They believe it will be the final answer to the age-old search for the fastest route to the Indies and that it will bring back to Turkey the profits of a transit-country which it enjoyed in the days of camel caravans.

TEACHERS ARE RE-EMPLOYED AT BUCYRUS

Entire Staff Re-named By Board of Education at Meeting Yesterday.

BUCYRUS — The city school board today announced the re-employment of the entire teaching staff of Bucyrus schools. Re-employment of teachers is now effected under provisions of the teachers tenure bill which becomes effective Aug. 31.

MOSCOW PRODS FINNS TO YIELD NICKEL MINES

Russians Want Entire Output From Finland's Petsamo Mining District.

STOCKHOLM — (U.P.) — A new Soviet request regarding the famed nickel mines of Petsamo, again may spell trouble for Finland.

Just how far Russia intends to go in this latest issue is a question. A non-Swedish and non-American source did not exclude the possibility that it might well represent the alleged cause for resuming the invasion of Finland.

Several prominent Finns have said they suspected the Soviet request regarding Petsamo to have been timed strategically. In view of a probable German invasion of the British Isles, they thought the Kremlin considered this as the best moment to raise a new "case" with Finland.

The Russians have requested a "new deal" in the administration and output of the Petsamo nickel mines. In fact, one high source believes Moscow wants the outright concession of the mines.

It began some weeks ago with the Soviet government expressing the desire to the Finnish minister, Juky K. Paasikivi in Moscow that a fresh settlement should be reached regarding the mines.

A few days after learning of this first desire, Paasikivi was invited to a new conference. This time he was informed that Russia desired the "outright concession of the Petsamo mines."

Reporting this additional request to his government, Paasikivi was told that several experts would leave immediately for Moscow. These did and discussions were inaugurated.

It is recalled that the majority of the Petsamo nickel shares are owned by the Canadian Mond company. It is now reported that Mond has complied with a recent request to relinquish these shares, thus improving the Finn attitude in the Moscow negotiations.

One source declared it was believed at first the Soviet would be satisfied if the present terms of the Petsamo agreement were reversed. That is, Russia would obtain 60 per cent of the output instead of Germany and the latter to receive Russia's present 40 per cent cut. But the Soviet have now raised the ante to complete concession.

The Finnish government is doing its utmost to balk this Soviet request which, incidentally, signifies the creation of a mixed Russo-Finnish board to administer the mines. The hitch is that the Russians want the chairman of the board to be a fellow-citizen.

Furthermore this source estimated that once the Russians obtained concession rights at, Petsamo, they would rush some 400 persons there as experts, engineers and skilled workmen.

Mansfielder 'Loaned' to U. S.

L. S. Houk, above, work's engineer at the Mansfield Westinghouse plant, has been "loaned" to the federal government to assist in the construction of a $16,000,000 Navy ordnance plant in Canton.

ENGINEER AT WESTINGHOUSE TO HELP BUILD BIG DEFENSE PLANT

L. S. Houk, works engineer at the Mansfield Westinghouse plant, has been "loaned" to the U. S. government for the next three months to assist in the construction of a $16,000,000 navy ordnance plant at Canton, C. L. Van Derau, manager of manufacturing, announced today.

Houk will spend more than half of his time in Canton but will retain his position as works engineer of the Westinghouse plant here, Van Derau said.

Works engineer of the Mansfield plant for the past six years. Houk had an important part in mapping and supervising construction of the $1,500,000 Westinghouse expansion program which is nearing completion here.

Westinghouse was chosen by the navy to build and operate the Canton ordnance plant and an $8,000,000 ordnance plant in Louisville, Ky. The plants will manufacture ordnance equipment.

The cleanup: Government statisticians have found that when business is good, more soap is used.

15,000 Additional Surgical Dressings Completed By Unit

Twenty-two more boxes of surgical dressings made by Red Cross volunteer workers are ready for shipment to the Toledo Medical Depot, Mrs. Moneta Calhoun of the executive office of Richland chapter of the Red Cross announced today.

The boxes contain 15,200 dressings made under the supervision of Mrs. E. M. Eichin, surgical dressings chairman, and will be used by army posts in this country.

New orders from national headquarters will cause a delay in local shipments of sewed and knitted garments, Mrs. Calhoun said. In the future only one type of garment will be permitted to be packed in one box, she explained. In the past a miscellany of articles could be included in any shipment. Now it will be necessary to wait until a sufficient number of one type of garment is completed to fill a box before shipment can be made.

TWENTY-FOUR PRESENT.

Mrs. Fred Proctor, 925 Park avenue west, was hostess to members of the Findlay-Anderson Bible class of the United Presbyterian church Wednesday evening at her home. Associate hostesses were Mrs. W. W. Crouch and Mrs. George Rusk. The business meeting was in charge of Mrs. George Riel, after which Mrs. Crouch conducted the devotions. At a late hour a luncheon was served buffet style with peonies decorating the table. The next meeting will be held July 2 at the home of Miss Anna Rauch, 99 Wood street. Mrs. George Knofflock and Mrs. Harry Martin will be the associate hostesses.

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, June 6.

A particularly active and productive day may be forecast from the interesting aspects of major planets. This pleasant and prosperous situation obtains in business as well as the social, domestic, affectional and professional relations. It is probable that public, community, group, political or fraternal contacts may be involved in such happy and profitable enterprise. There may be petty irritabilities or disagreements, but all inharmonies and menaces are offset by firm restraints and maintenance of good nature and friendly cooperation.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a particularly lively, lucrative and pleasant year, with much stirring in a constructive and progressive manner. Public, group, fraternal and welfare channels promise the most productive avenues for attaining ambitious aims and aspirations. Trivialities and all impetuosities should be relegated to the background where signal benefits are jeopardized. The good will and cooperation of the public and those in authority is to be cultivated

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

"In the hall," Mr. Veritzen promptly decided. Then he looked back at Olga and me.

"I must crave your indulgence," he said. "I shall not be a minute."

It was but little more than that when he came back into the room, standing with his back to the French doors.

"You can't see my lips as Olga can, Madge," he said, "so if you can't hear me perfectly, tell me now."

"I can hear you distinctly," I said. "Please go on."

"Two of the guards," he went on swiftly in the same muted tones, "are stationed in a recess almost opposite this door, where they can see anyone coming to it, while themselves secure from observation. The other two are in a similar observation post opposite the room communicating with this. Will this arrangement be satisfactory until your father arrives?"

"It will be wonderful," I said with enthusiasm. Then I added:

"And I'm now ready to answer the question you put to me just before Mr. Milner came in. I agree with you that it is most unwise for me to tell you that story in this suite."

"Then we'll adjourn promptly to that other room, through your bedroom," Mr. Veritzen said in tones as low as my own, extending a hand to help me rise. But I put a detaining hand upon his sleeve.

"Don't you think we'd better put on an act?" I asked.

"Of course," he said. "What do you suggest?"

I considered a second, for I had not had time to plan anything.

"Suppose we speak rather loudly for a minute or two," I said at last, "and then Olga might suggest that one of us ought to go back to the party for a few minutes. She will ask you to go, saying that she wants to repair her complexion or something like that, although I cannot imagine anything less needed."

I flashed a laughing glance of apology at her.

"Then when you have gone rather noisily," I went on, "and have called back loudly from the door to say that you'll be back within a few minutes, Olga and I will go into the bedroom, and thence directly through the concealed door into the other room."

"I don't know whether or not this will serve," I added hesitantly, but Mr. Veritzen interrupted me summarily.

Veritzen Highly Approves.

"It's a splendid idea," he said, "and it will serve the purpose of conveying the idea that this room is not empty, nor tenanted only by yourself, and that I am returning in a very short time. We are fortunate in those draperies"—he gestured toward the heavy velvet curtains covering the French doors—"and also in the ones over the bedroom windows. They absolutely defy the most determined peerer. And, now, shall we play our little comedy?"

Olga promptly raised her voice to a pitch she never uses.

"How thoughtless I am!" she exclaimed. 'We ought to go back to Mary's party—one of us at least. But I really ought to work before a mirror for awhile before I go back."

"You don't need to go over there," her husband replied with chivalrous quickness. "I will go and make your excuses for you."

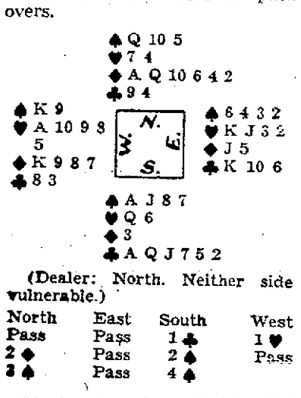
"The Authority on Authorities"

CREATING MIRAGES

When one fine card reader is up against another, he knows the mental processes of his opponent. Consequently he can figure out what bidding or play is likely to create a mirage, making his victim certain that one or more facts are entirely different from what they actually are. By using this kind of nefarious machination, he may set any number of contracts which otherwise would be push-overs.



(Dealer: North. Neither side vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	1 ♣	1 ♥
2 ♦	Pass	2 ♠	Pass
3 ♠	Pass	4 ♠

Plenty of pairs got into this same precarious contract in the recent individual masters' championship tournament, and all but one of those who risked the seven-card trump suit made their contract. Where it was beaten, the blame did not belong to the declarer particularly, but to the mean defense offered by Lee Hazen in the West and Edward N. Marcus in the East.

Making a lead of the diamond [illegible] considered it impossible to read his holding, so the [illegible] decided to go up with the dummy's A, counting East for the K. He sent the spade Q through to the K, and Mr. Hazen strengthened the diamond mirage by leading his 7. Now sure that East had the K, but West might have the J, the declarer put in the 10, but the now lonely J covered it, and South had to ruff with the spade 7.

Came next the heart 6 to the 10, the heart A and then the spade 9, won by the 10. All this time West counted his partner for probably four spades, which was right. Next the club 9, 10 and J, the club A and the club 2 ruffed set up that suit, but it did no good. South led his diamond 6, but he had no way left to take more than one additional trick, with his spade A, so he was set three tricks. West's unorthodox defense had wrecked his promising effort.

North to play this deal at 6-Hearts?

Tomorrow's Problem.

FINDS NO HURRY AMONG WORKERS AT ARMS PLANT

Writer Reports Laborers Talk About Pay, Women Instead of Adolf Hitler.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Randall Brown, a Cleveland reporter spent last week working as a laborer on construction of the government's Ravenna shell-loading plant. Here is the second account of some of his experiences. The first appeared in Wednesday's News-Journal.)

By RANDALL BROWN
(AP Special Writer)

RAVENNA — As one of nearly 7,000 laborers at the army's $30,000,000 Ravenna shell-loading plant, I expected to be plunged into an atmosphere of war-time alert.

Instead, I was astonished by the easy-going "normalcy" in evidence at the arsenal, at least among the common laborers in a road-building gang to which I was assigned.

Listening to the everyday chatter of my fellow workers, not once did I overhear one of them make the slightest reference to Adolf Hitler, President Roosevelt or the international situation.

Theoretically, the laborers were toiling on a tremendous establishment to assemble death-dealing shells for the defense of their nation.

Yet not even part of their talk was about the crisis. It was about wages and women, exclusively.

Between blows of my stone-smashing sledge-hammer, I asked eight others in my labor gang if they had heard or read that President Roosevelt had proclaimed an unlimited national emergency and had served notice to the world that America would resist Hitler.

"Yeah?" one of my buddies said. And, turning to another, he said: "Joe, you gonna see your girl pay day?"

Our foreman, a likeable fellow wearing a pressed-paper helmet, certainly did not drive us. One workman said he probably got more work out of us that way than by bullying us.

New at stone-smashing, I began crushing every stone. But a veteran worker, a man between 40 and 50, cautioned me against zeal. He whispered a tip on how to do just the minimum work necessary to stay on the pay roll: Don't make little ones of all the big ones.

"Let those big flat ones alone," he said. "The cat (track-propelled bulldozer) will cover 'em up, anyway."

Our job was to break up the stone dumped by trucks on the new road beds being carved from the 30,000 acres of woods and pastureland on the arsenal reservation. Then the bulldozer would smooth out the stone into a road surface.

One young laborer boasted to me about how he had light work in a tool shed. He said that one week, when he worked overtime, his check, at 65 cents an hour for 40 hours, time-and-a-half for over 40 hours and double time for Sundays, totaled $59.32 after social security deductions.

Everybody talked about wage increases. The laborers a week before had staged a wildcat strike for a rise in hourly pay from 65 cents to 90 cents an hour. The wage demand is being discussed in Washington.

"Sure we'll get a raise, maybe not to 90 but to 70 or 75," one worker said. "Uncle Sam can't afford to have this job shut down again, so we're bound to get something."

My roommate, brawny Richard S. Brooks, 28, of Friendly, W. Va., said he had worked for 45 cents an hour in his home state and that he believed 65 cents an hour was "good money." He admitted, however, he'd welcome even more.

I asked him what he thought about the national crisis. His reply:

"I'll just bet that Hitler'll be in Washington in two years. We should have been in the war before he got all those little countries."

Before reporting to work one afternoon, I strolled through the central area of the reservation. I saw only two army officers in uniform, fewer than I'd seen on Cleveland's Euclid avenue in a comparable 20-minute period. Dressed as a laborer, I naturally could not enter the war department offices, where the officers have their headquarters. There are no troops, other than officers, at the arsenal.

An army captain stationed at the arsenal expressed surprise that I had easily gained entrance to the reservation, posing as a laborer. I could have been a Nazi spy instead of a newspaper reporter, he said.

The captain declared my entrance on to the grounds probably would result in army orders to civilian guards to tighten up vigilance at the arsenal gates.

Congressman Dies

Representative M. Michael Edelstein (D.) of New York fell dead in a corridor just outside the house chamber in the Washington capitol following an acrid exchange of words on the floor of the house with Representative John Rankin (D.) of Mississippi.

BROODING CHICKENS

WASHINGTON—(INS)— Chickens that brood will worry themselves into an early grave. Poultry researchers of the Agriculture Department state broody hens interfere with egg production and must be killed so they will not pass on their broodiness to chicks. The average production of the broody white leghorn is 153 eggs compared with 194 eggs of the non-broody type.

BROADWAY

—By Dorothy Kilgallen

The Legends of Broadway.

GENTLEMEN of the Fifth Estate, the press agents of Glitter Lane, work on the principle that the headline supersedes the heart. Sentiment, they believe, is a fine thing in the fan magazines, fine if it is carefully manufactured to fit the career-mold of a client. But the real thing, they know is not for artists. The real thing is for ordinary people—like you, and me, and themselves.

Dorothy Kilgallen

And so, because these precepts were adhered to strictly in this case, this legend of Broadway has its background music played on strings. Heartstrings.

* * *

Con Conrad brought Russ Columbo to New York. Con Conrad was a genius at song writing and a Svengali who worshipped only publicity. When Francine Larrimore divorced him, Con was elated that her constant escort was the elegant George Jean Nathan—but when she switched to the columnist, S. Jay Kaufman, Con shrieked: "She shouldn't do that—it's only good for local publicity!"

* * *

Con laid the groundwork for Columbo's New York blaze very carefully. At 10 o'clock the morning Columbo arrived in town Conrad sent a wire to Ziegfeld reading: "Sorry but Columbo is unavailable. Con Conrad." A duplicate was sent to an advertising agency: "Impossible. Con Conrad." At two p. m., another wire: "It isn't the money, it's the role we don't like."

Within the hour, the telephone rang. Could Mr. Conrad come to the agency the next day? And then a wire—the longest, most beautiful wire in the world signed "Ziegfeld."

* * *

Columbo sang for Ziegfeld and Ziggy was conquered. He told Conrad he'd glorify the boy. They went upstairs to the office and left Russ in the theater and then it happened.

Ruth Etting walked over to Columbo and congratulated him and introduced a beautiful young girl who was waiting her turn to audition—a girl named Dorothy Dell.

You know love at first sight. Little Dell, a beauty contest winner from New Orleans, and Russ Columbo, a lad from the west.

Dorothy sang her songs and was told to come back the next afternoon. Russ took her to Dave's Blue Room—Russ' first unchaperoned date since Conrad had signed him.

When he got back to the hotel that night, Con was furious. "Did Valentino go with chorus girls? Look at Harry Richman—Clara Bow, that's who he goes with." And on into the night.

A radio contract next—$2,750 a week. A 14-week contract to appear at the Brooklyn Paramount at $3,000 a week. A limousine and chauffeur, a bank account, fame, his name in every column linking him with women he'd never met, at places he'd never been to.

Still Conrad was fretfully unhappy. Russ was seeing the young nobody, Dorothy Dell.

There were a few well placed phone calls. Presto—Garbo is in town incognito!

Reporters combed the hotels with no results. More calls. She just sent some wires from the telegraph office at the St. Moritz! The reporters swooped down. Piece by piece, they gathered that a heavily veiled blonde had sent a wire to Russ Columbo at the Paramount—and that the wire was signed: "G. G."

The newspapermen swarmed into Columbo's dressing room. The lad was on stage, but Conrad let them in. "Don't let on I gave you these." he begged, then handed the boys a flock of wires signed "G." and "G. G." They read: "Why don't you call?" and "Forever and ever." and "Please." The next day the tabloids screamed in headlines: "Columbo spurns Garbo." And following that sensation, another tab scooped the town with this banner: "Columbo and Garbo to Wed."

The press agent smiled. He had engaged a model to pose as Garbo, veiled her, and had her send the wires.

Then Hollywood separated Russ and Dorothy permanently. Carole Lombard had divorced William Powell and was a free gal when Con introduced Russ to her. Perfect timing.

Soon, Dorothy got her Hollywood break, her first picture proved she was star material. But Russ was still in her heart, and whenever she sang, she sang his song: "My Heart Is Beating . . . It Keeps repeating . . . It's you I'm needing . . . That's why I'm pleading . . . Please come back to me . . ."

Yes, Russ was still in her heart but publicity had sealed it tightly. Columbo and Garbo—Columbo and Lombard. All publicity, yes. But this time, in Lombard the headlines had struck a winner. The real thing had come along.

* * *

And then, Death came.

Columbo was killed by a bullet from an "unloaded" gun. Dorothy Dell, beautiful and gay, was smashed to death in an auto accident. And Con Conrad—a strep throat was his doom.

HOLLYWOOD

—By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD—If actors sometimes break out in chilly sweat as they sign on the dotted line, you can't blame them too much. It makes a whale of a difference where they sign, and one studio is not just like another.

"Look at us now," says the chubby little guy who is one half—the funnier half—of the Abbott and Costello team. "If we'd signed at M-G-M, as we thought we might, we'd just now be coming out in our first picture. We signed at Universal—and we've finished our fourth, are ready for our fifth."

The Metro picture was "Ziegfeld Girl," recently released. At Universal Bud Abbott and Lou Costello are making history as well as money. Their first movie, "A Night in the Tropics," is getting revival runs (although they're in it only briefly) because their second, "Buck Privates," has been so (to put it mildly) colossal. Their third, "Oh, Charlie," is going back into production with a bigger budget because their fourth, "In the Navy," wowed audiences at sneak previews.

ONCE Lou's Hollywood home was a broken-down auto parked outside a pool hall. Today he has an $18,000 house, plus swimming pool, in the valley. Abbott, his partner for 10 years, a burlesque house cashier when they teamed up in Brooklyn. has a similarly pleasant layout nearby.

Their teaming was the result of an argument, many arguments. When Lou, then a small-time burlesque comic, needed a fill-in straight man one night he invited Bud out of the cashier's box.

Both the comics were born in New Jersey, Abbott in Atlantic City under a circus tent in 1900, Costello in Paterson in 1908. Abbott had worked backstage at the circus and had been a sign-painter, theater cashier, operator and producer before he joined Lou. Costello went to Hollywood, starved a while or ate on the cuff, worked as a scene-shifter, stunt man and bit player. He doubled once for Dolores Del Rio. His squeaky voice made him a fugitive from the talkies.

EX-KAISER TO BE BURIED AT DOORN MONDAY

Pomp and Circumstance of Imperial Germany To Be Revived For Funeral.

(By International News Service)

BERLIN—The pomp and circumstance of imperial Germany will be revived for a brief moment on Monday when former Kaiser Wilhelm II is buried at Doorn, the retreat in Holland where he lived in exile for 23 years.

On his journey to the grave the body of the one-time war lord, who ended his life as the old "wood chopper of Doorn," will be accompanied by a select group of the "old guard" and generals wearing the spiked helmets and military panoply of the imperial reich.

According to funeral arrangements announced today the group of generals will be headed by 92-year-old Field Marshal August Von Mackensen, who was invited to attend the funeral by the ex-kaiser's eldest son, former Crown Prince Friedrich Wilhelm.

Both Von Mackensen and Prince Friedrich will wear the uniforms of the death head Hussars at the burial ceremonies.

The Nazi reich will be represented by Air General Christiansen, commander-in-chief of the Netherlands, who has been delegated Chancellor Hitler's personal representative at the funeral. He will appear in the blue uniform of the Nazi luftwaffe.

An army company will fire the last slavo to the former kaiser as his body is lowered into the grave. The coffin will be carried directly to the grave in Doorn Park from Doorn house, which the former emperor had come to regard as home.

All the ex-kaiser's sons have arrived at Doorn but his grandsons with the exception of Louis Ferdinand, Hubertus and Franz Joseph remain at the front.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS — Approximately 4,000 Ohio vocational agriculture students will gather here tomorrow and Saturday to attend the annual state meeting of Future Farmers of America and participate in judging contests at Ohio State university.

LOW LAKE MILTON WATER LEVEL THREAT TO STEEL INDUSTRIES

YOUNGSTOWN — (AP) — Lake Milton, built to back up 10,000,000,000 gallons of water to assure a supply for the industries of the Mahoning Valley, is down to less than a third of its capacity, and unless the recent rains continue generously, steel-making and other essential industries of the valley will have to be curtailed this summer.

The Milton reservoir, 18 miles due west from Youngstown but considerably farther away by the rambling course of the Mahoning river, serves a double purpose: to assure an adequate water supply and to check floods.

It was built by the city of Youngstown after the disastrous 1913 flood and is operated by the city, although the entire valley, from Newton Falls through Warren, Niles, Girard, Campbell, Struthers and Lowellsville benefits.

Each spring water is let out of the reservoir so that the spring rains may be held back, reducing flood hazards and still assuring plenty of water. But this spring there weren't any rains.

The flow out of Milton's gates was reduced again and again, until it finally was 33,000,000 gallons a day, instead of the 80,000,000 normally released during the summer. Still the lake's level dropped, until the water was more than 16 feet below the spillway.

Last Monday, after week-end rains had fed other tributaries of the Mahoning and thus assured an adequate flow, Milton's gates were closed completely for 24 hours. Then they were opened to allow 16,000,000 gallons to flow out of the lake.

Yesterday's rains brought the first rise in the lake's level in many weeks, and the water department officials hope that enough additional rain will come to refill the reservoir.

County Dog Warden William Miller went hunting for a pack of wild dogs yesterday, but he came back empty-handed. Armed with a gun, Miller searched the valley along the B. and O. tracks west of the city limits for the dogs after George Kreischer, 192 Rowland avenue, reported to Sheriff Frank E. Robinson that he saw four or five of the dogs go into a groundhog burrow. Miller was unable to find them, but he planned to renew his search with Kreischer as a guide. The dog warden said it was not unusual to find a dog that had strayed away from society and reverted to a wild state.

Westinghouse employes must be expecting to launch themselves in a flurry of lectures, debates, sales talks or possibly campaign speeches according to the number signing up for the company's new public speaking contest. ACT TO ROUTE SHIPS NEARER TO INDUSTRY

Legislators Seek Measure To Hasten Construction of New Pipelines.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Re-allocation of America's maritime tanker fleet appeared certain today, in a quick government move to cope with the approaching oil shortage in the east.

Meanwhile, administration leaders sought to get a house vote on the legislation asked by President Roosevelt for expediting the immediate construction of oil pipelines.

Government officials did not indicate, however, to what degree they were hopeful of reducing the prospective scarcity developing from the transfer of one-fifth of the domestic oil tanker fleet to British service.

It was problematical whether the two-fold attack on the emergency would remove the likelihood of such conservation measures as "gasless Sundays" and lower temperatures in oil-heated homes next winter.

Informed sources pointed out that the pipeline bill held no immediate promise of bettering the oil transportation situation, because new pipelines would require from 12 to 15 months to build. A re-allocation of tankers would help, they said, but the steadily increasing needs of defense industries might preempt much of this additional supply.

Defense Petroleum Administrator Ickes conferred on the problem yesterday with Mr. Roosevelt and said later that he would call for wider use of existing tanker facilities.

His plan, it was indicated, would mean the rerouting of a number of tankers from their present runs to utilize oil sources nearest the industrial east.

Apparently anticipating that rerouting the tankers would not solve the problem, oil executives working under Ickes began a study of the application of "gasless Sundays" during the World war.

One official expressed belief that if restrictions on pleasure use of automobiles are necessary, cooperation would be sought by a patriotic appeal to automobile owners to stay home on Sunday, rather than by a threat of punishment.

British Use Neon Lights To Spur Plant Growth

LONDON—(INS)—London's gay neon lights, switched off at the outbreak of hostilities, are now engaged at "war work."

Britain's research experts have recently discovered that with neon lights, plant growth can be speeded up tremendously. Plant breeding and research stations are being equipped with miniature neon tubes in greenhouses.

In this particular war role they are called "irradiators," giving off a dull red glow

The idea came from Holland where it was found possible to ripen strawberries under glass in February.

Neon lighting is being experimentally used in England on roses, cucumbers, melons, lilies of the valley, primroses, begonias and sugar beet.

APPLIES TECHNIQUE OF 'BIG BUSINESS' TO TYPING FIELD

CHICAGO — (INS) — Josephine Toscano is just 21 but she knows the business world from the inside. Already she has had the experience of organizing a corporation, promoting the sale of its stock and retiring from the presidency.

Josephine is a bright young girl who studied typing and stenography in high school and then set out to do something with it. She organized the Business Misses, Inc., the only girls' unit of the Chicago Junior Achievement Movement.

She gathered together ten girls between th ages of 16 and 21 and they floated $55 worth of stock at 50 cents a share. Then they bought typewriters and desks, rented an office and went to work banging the keys.

Josephine, who defines their small headquarters as a "chubby-hole," explained that the girls chase out and get the typing work of scores of small business and professional men.

"Here is where we work daily from 3 p. m. to 9 p. m. and we find plenty to do," she said. "With a sales contact girl out drumming up business, the girls address envelopes, send out mailing lists for small clients and even address Christmas and Easter cards.

"There are doctors and dentists and small real estate firms that cannot afford the services of professional secretaries and there are also young, practically unknown authors who want their manuscripts typed for them.

"We charge less than most secretaries, for, after all, most of us are high school girls trying to keep in practice until we can find better jobs."

The Business Misses, founded a year ago, makes enough money to pay expenses and before long Josephine hopes that the girls will be able to declare a couple cents dividend on company stock.

But when that happens, she won't be president any more. Under the rules of the Junior Achievement Movement, she has to retire now that she is 21.

Amazed How "Vendol" Eased Sour, Gassy, Upset Stomach

Young Ohio girl declares constipation was causing these troubles, also headaches, sore aching muscles. "Best medicine I ever took, advise everyone to try it."

MISS JOSEPHINE CURRINGTON

"If I am constipated I feel almost like a wreck, because it results in so many symptoms that make me miserable," says Miss Josephine Currington of Springfield, Ohio.

"When constipated I often awaken with a headache, my stomach gets so upset that after nearly every meal I suffer from acid indigestion, sourness, rifting up a hot liquid that burns my throat and feels like I'll choke; also the muscles in my arms, shoulders, across my back, and in my legs become sore and stiff and I feel so no-account I hate to start the day's work, due to constipation.

"Two weeks ago I began taking Vendol, and actually the first dose showed such good results that I was amazed; now I feel more like myself again than for a long time. Vendol gave the all-important temporary relief from constipation I needed so badly, and when I'm not constipated I enjoy a hearty meal without having symtoms like acid indigestion, sour stomach, bloating, choking feeling. No gas, headaches, or sluggish feeling, and the soreness and stiffness in my muscles have disappeared. I like Vendol, and will depend on it in future."

When you suffer like this; take Vendol, a medicine with 17 years' reputation and praised by thousands who say it's about the best medicine ever tried. All druggists sell it, and the larger sizes save you money. Recommended here by Central Drug Store, Cor. Main and Fourth Sts; Weinberger's, Leed's, and Muir's Drug Stores.

Sport Podge

by REX HESS

There was quite a bit of complaint among the fans and players at the Fairground the other evening about the brand of umpiring being dished out for the Braves-Tiffin tussle, and there is some room for complaint at that.

And when the winning pitcher, Don Bayliss, of the Mud Hens, comes up to the press box after the game, and of his own accord and without the subject being mentioned by anyone else, puts in his bit of beef, I begin to suspect there is even more room for complaint than meets the casual eye of the fan flock.

Says Bayliss: "That umpiring out there tonight is pretty terrible. But I think I get more breaks from the umps than you do, at that."

Now ordinarily this is not the way a winning pitcher will chatter, particularly if he thinks he gets more breaks than his opponent.

In fact it would seem the usual procedure would be for the lucky flinger to give the men in blue a pat on the back, or a black stogie, or a lollipop, or some other small token of his appreciation, leaving out all thoughts of esteem and affection.

So when the winner talks in this wise, I am led to believe the guesswork is far off the standard of Information Please and the other quiz quirks.

The Umps is getting a sad blow When the winner lays him low.

But the fans and the players must realize that the umpires in this league are in the same class of ball as the players, and if a few errors by the inexperienced players can be excused, so can a few bobbles by the arbiters who also are picking up a bit of experience in the hope that they too will rise to higher circuits and more lucrative fields for their guessing gestures.

You can't expect big league umpiring at the rate of pay given the arbiters in the Ohio State loop, and sometimes I see some poor umpiring in the big show also, but not so often.

This league is a training ground for young players and young umpires, and if the umpires claim to be experienced and are no farther than the Ohio State league, then they should go back home and seek other employment for their experience is getting them no place fast.

But while the umpires are gaining experience it makes a very tough row to hoe for the young twirlers in this circuit. Pitching is really a tougher job for them than for the throwers in the big show. To the fact that their defensive support is not so good, diamonds are not in such good shape, and fences often closer, add the fact that they must outguess the umpires as well as the batters, and you get what I mean.

The league training school for umpires this spring produced some pretty fair umpires. Now if Prexy Joe Donnelly continues to keep check on his arbiting corps, and weeds out those who prove not so good, the system should be a success.

WHIRLY FAVORED

NEW YORK —(INS)— Whirlaway, the derby-preakness winner, today was odds-on-favorite to win Saturday's running of the Belmont stakes. Working with his one-eyed blinkers, Whirlaway yesterday ran the mile and one-quarter in the sensational time of 2:02 2-5.

Dodgers Shoved Into Lead

Stay In Out of Rain as Rivals Falter.

By GAYLE TLBOT

(Associated Press Sports Writer.)

SIMPLY by staying in out of the wet while their chief rivals were fumbling themselves into defeat, the Brooklyn Dodgers have climbed back into the National league lead.

Larry MacPhail's "boughten" wonders are a half-game in front of the St. Louis Cardinals, who dropped a 4-2 decision to the Boston Braves in one of the three games played in the big leagues yesterday and tumbled from the top for the first time since May 19.

* * *

The Cards' infield, regarded by many observers as the one questionable spot in an otherwise great team, committed three errors to present the Braves with the same number of unearned runs and the margin of victory. Rookie Frank Crespi made two of them at second base and Jimmy Brown bobbed up with another at third.

All the other National league contests were washed out by a general rain in the east, and only two American league games escaped the downpour.

The St. Louis Browns, playing their last game under Manager Fred Haney, walloped the unfortunate Washington Senators 7-4 and thereby climbed to the dizzy height of seventh place in the American league. Luke Sewell, their new pilot, can never claim he was saddled with a last-place outfit. President Don Barnes' timing was perfect, if slightly peculiar.

Under the lights at Comiskey park last night, the Chicago White Sox observed "Connie Mack" night by walloping his Philadelphia Athletics, 6-1, behind the five-hit pitching of Thornton Lee.

* * *

Lee's victory, his seventh of the season, lifted the Sox to within a game of the first place Cleveland Indians in the American league.

Millers Lose In 11-Inning Game

(By Associated Press)

The American association's western clubs are having anything but a joy ride on their second invasion of the eastern half of the circuit.

Rainy weather has permitted only five of 12 scheduled games to be played since the invasion began Monday. The western clubs have lost four of the five engagement, breaking even in the only two games not rained out last night.

* * *

Minneapolis engaged Indianapolis in a last-ditch, 11-inning fracas but lost, 6 to 5.

* * *

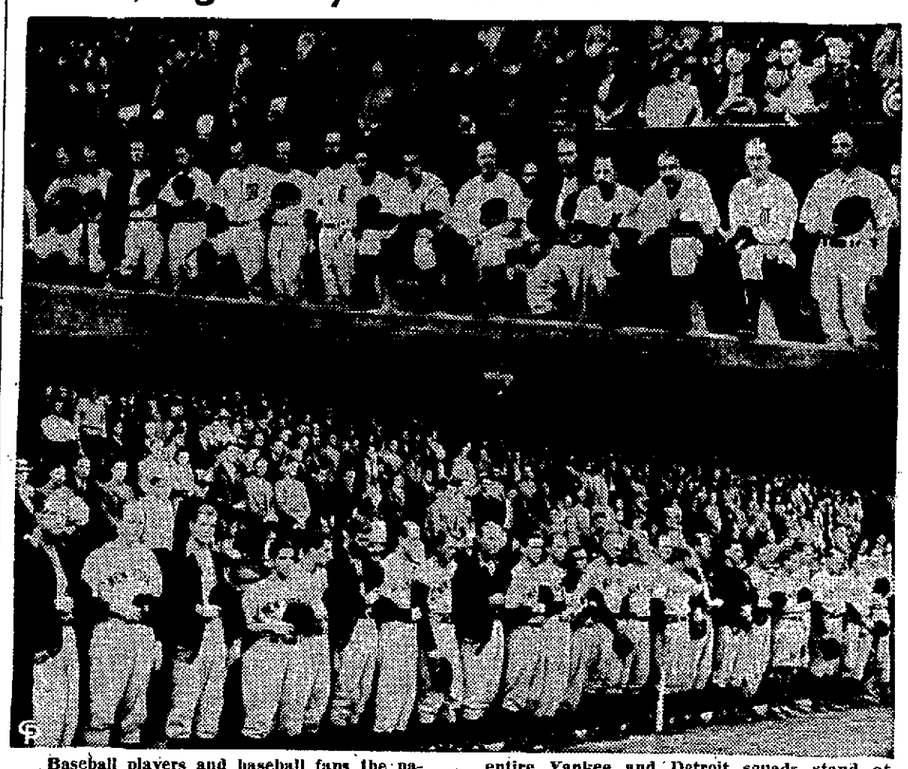
The triumph enabled Indianapolis to move into fifth place ahead of Toledo, whose game with Milwaukee was washed out. The Kansas City-Columbus game was also rained out.

Catcher Ed Fernandes conducted St. Paul to a 5 to 4 victory over Louisville, poling a two-run homer in the eighth inning for the tying and wining markers.

CAGERS JOIN MARINES

WOOSTER—(AP)—Two Wooster college cage stars, Dick Gernert of Bowling Green and Gilbert Hole of Wooster, have signed with the marines for training. Both will take second lieutenant exams at Quantico, Va., Oct. 1.

Yanks, Tigers Pay Tribute to Lou



Baseball players and baseball fans the nation over mourn Lou Gehrig, the former great Yankee first baseman, who died in New York. As a silent tribute to the "Iron Horse," the entire Yankee and Detroit squads stand at attention in Detroit where the two teams are meeting in a current series. The Tiger squad is on top here.

Braves Book Bargain Bill

Meet Green Sox In Doubleheader Tonight.

All games were rained out again last night in the Ohio State league and three more future double headers were lined up for league play.

With five twin bills already on the home schedule of the Mansfield Braves, Manager Alex Clowson's tribesmen are booked for the first of their bargain bills tonight at the Fairground when Rip-roaring Chappie Geygan and his rapidly improving Fremont Green Sox invade the happy hunting ground.

Clowson has his hill aces, Pat Patterson and Chuck Byers, ready to shoot at the Sox, and as a matter of fact, because of the recent rains, his entire mound staff was ready to go with the exception of Fred Wolpert who hurled three nights ago.

This morning Clowson had not yet decided on the mound assignment for tonight's games. In six home games thus far Mansfield fans have seen only three Braves flingers, Byers, Patterson and Wolpert, and it may be that they'll get a peek at a couple other members of the flinging corps.

The first game this evening is scheduled promptly at 7 o'clock.

The watch and a plaque were presented to Mack by Mayor Edward J. Kelly last night in ceremonies at Comiskey park just before the A's and the white Sox engaged in Chicago's first night game of the season.

CONN INDICTED ON TRAFFIC VIOLATION

PITTSBURGH — (INS) — Billy Conn, former light heavyweight champion now in training for a June 8 bout with Joe Louis, was under indictment today for driving an automobile without a license.

He was arrested March 28, police said, for speeding on the Boulevard of the Allies Pittsburgh. Two weeks previous, his license had been lifted for 90 days for speeding near Philadelphia.

SIX BUCKS PICKED FOR TRACK MEETS

COLUMBUS —(U.P.)— Ohio State university Track Coach Larry Snyder announced today that six Buckeye runners will represent the school in the annual Big Ten-Pacific coast meet at Los Angeles June 17.

The runners and the events in which they will compete: Ralph Hammond, New York City, dashes; Bob Wright, Huntington, W. Va., high and low hurdles; Ed Porter, Mingo Junction, 440-yard dash; Emil Moldea, Akron, shot put; Captain Les Eisenhart, Columbus, mile run; Bob Johnson, Poland, discus.

They also will run in the national collegiate meet at Palo Alto June 21 and 22.

Nelson Listed As Favorite

Former Fort Worth Pro Has Game For Open.

FORT WORTH, Tex—(AP)—Golf's greatest extravaganza—the national open started today in the cow country of Texas.

All records attendant to the tournament teetered as the field cautiously spread over the par 70 Colonial club layout, which had had the nation's finest golfers muttering through practice rounds.

Apparently the only mark which might make a stand was the scoring record of 281 held by Ralph Guldahl. A few bold souls predicted even that would be broken.

Installed as No. 1 favorite was Byron Nelson, former Fort Worth caddy whose string-straight game appeared made to order for the baffling course.

* * *

Close behind was Benny Hogan, another local product who is leading the Vardon trophy race and in money won this year.

Other Texans in the running were: Jimmy Demaret, who toted bags around Houston courses in early youth; the Mangrum brothers, Lloyd and Ray; Dick Metz; and Guldahl, who twice has won the title.

The talk was all about the Texans and Lawson Little, defending champion; Gene Sarazen, the country squire from Connecticut who breezed around in two-under-par 68 yesterday; Sammy Snead, playing well desipte an ailing back; Craig Wood, another "cripple;" and Paul Runyan, usually poison on a demanding links.

Night Games for Softball All-Star Team Postponed

Rain Drowns Out Early Interest in Sport, New Commission Learns

THE MANSFIELD softball commission voted last night to discontinue indefinitely the sponsoring of the night softball game between an All-Star team of local players and the Massillon Rogers Jewelers.

The decision was made at a meeting held at the Y. M. C. A. The commission felt that interest at the present time did not warrant the staging of the All-Star game.

With weather conditions against the playing of league games this week it was thought that not sufficient time would be allowed to build a strong team to play against the highly touted Massillon team.

Selection of the All-Star team also has been postponed until shortly before the opening of the night schedule, which will await more favorable weather.

Another decision was rendered by the commission after much discussion by managers of the Mansfield Tire and Tappan Stove team in the Commercial league.

The Tappan Stove protested a 14-3 defeat in last week's league play on question of eligibility of players listed on the blank. After both sides admitted technical errors and with the commission wrong on a technical question the game will be replayed at North park Monday evening.

* * *

Booster tickets were distributed among commission members for the sponsoring of a recreation program for Mansfield parks during the summer. The commission is planning to sponsor a full time recreation program in co-operation with the W. P. A. and the Y. M. C. A.

The booster tickets are in the hands of all commission members and the proceeds are to be used for the recreation program. No stated amount is being asked for the booster tickets and donations can be made from ten cents on up.

Many special events are being planned for the summer program, according to Donald D. Cram, secretary of the commission. A city-wide marble and decathlon meet will be staged and also plans are under way to conduct a recreation program for a part of the Fourth of July celebration, sponsored by the Mansfield Parks association.

Commercial league managers can now secure permanent schedules for the remainder of the season by calling at the Y. M. C. A.

Cram has also requested the cooperation of all league managers in the reporting of the scores immediately after every game. The winning team manager is to take the official score to the Y. M. C. A.

Bucyrus Boy Clouts Ball

Lee Stuckman of Tiffin Mud Hens Also Hurls.

Big Lee Stuckman, back with the Tiffin Mud Hens after a sample showing last season, always has been one of those baseball rarities—a hitting pitcher. While he says he finds it somewhat tougher to hit in pro ball, he gets his cuts up there at the plate. He collected two hits his first three times up this year, one of them being a homer.

Two years ago, as a member of the Vaults of Bucyrus, Stuckman was regarded as one of the best independent semi-pro hurlers in the state. He pitched and batted the club to the most successful season it had enjoyed in four years of competition.

* * *

The team won 20 games and lost eight. Stuckman played third base and in the outfield when he was not pitching and chalked up a pretentious .372 average at the plate. He connected for 16 home runs.

The Mud Hen husky had batted another .372 the year before, and in 1937 he clubbed .402 to again materially aid the Vaults.

Over the three-year period, he pitched 56 games, winning 44 and losing 12 and taking to the infield or outfield when not engaged on the mound. He averaged 1.4 strikeouts per innings, or about 12 to the game.

Big Lee fashioned two no-hit games in the semi-pro ranks and also had two in high school competition. His school nine was undefeated for two consecutive seasons, thanks to his steady twirling.

Lee joined the Mud Hens last August and was around just long enough to win a game and lose two. Starting from scratch this year, the big fellow would be a winner with reasonable support.

* * *

In his short stay last year, he showed enough to get a spring trial with Indianapolis this season, but lacked the pro experience to stay in AA ball.

* * *

His 1939 semi-pro team had a most impressive lineup when he was pitching, for the weakest hitter on the club had an average of .308, and the range carried to 465 for the leader.

MANY BELLS RING FOR TITLE FIGHT

NEW YORK —(INS)— To avoid another contretempts such as occurred in the Buddy Baer-Joe Louis fight, when Baer claimed Louis had hit him after the bell, Promoter Mike Jacobs today had decided on an innovation for the Joe Louis-Billy Conn heavyweight title fight June 18.

In addition to the ordinary bell ending a round, he will have two other bells in neutral corners, each synchronized with the main bell so that there will be no danger of anybody failing to hear the bell.

Women Golfers Meet at Cincy

Western Open Draws Best Club Swingers.

CINCINNATI —(AP)— Entries already including more than a score of the nation's top-flight players, the western women's open golf championship match will get underway over rolling hills of the swank Cincinnati Country club course Monday.

In prime condition because of plentiful rains this week, the 5,877 yard course, women's par 73, is rated one of the oldest and trickiest in the midwest. Traps abound, particularly on the 3,249 yard out-nine.

* * *

Upward of 60, perhaps even 72, hopefuls and would-be champions are expected to sign up for 18 holes of qualifying play Monday. Medal play among 32 medelists starts Tuesday to continue through the week.

These standouts already have entered, Mrs. S B. Kent, general chairman, said today:

Mildred "Babe" Didrickson Zaharius, California champion: Betty Jameson, San Antonio, Tex., national amateur utlist; Patty Berg, St. Paul, former national amateur champ; Helen Dutweiler, St. Louis; Helen Hicks Harb, Blue Hills, Mo, former amateur and pro title-holder: Dorothy Kirby, Capitol City, Ga., runner-up in 1939 amateur play; Janet Shock, Dayton, O. Ohio state champion and Dorothy Gardner, Steubenville, O., whom Miss Shock defeated for the honor; Mrs. Burt Weil, Cincinnati, former state and Cincinnati city title-winner; Dorothy Schildmiller, Cincinnati amateur champion: Martha Holbrook Platt, four-time Dayton, O., city champ, and many others.

Luke Sewell Leaves Tribe To Manage St. Louis Browns

By LARRY HAUCK

CLEVELAND —(AP)—Aggressive Luke Sewell, who always wanted to manage a major league baseball team, reached his goal in St. Louis today—less than a year after he was passed up here as an aftermath of the Indians' 1940 player revolt.

* * *

One of Cleveland's coaches for the last three seasons, the stocky ex-catcher replaced Fred Haney as pilot of the seventh-place Browns.

Sewell was signed to a two-year contract in a swift move aimed at improving the miserable plight of the club that was expected to be the surprise team of the senior circuit this season Haney had been manager since the start of the 1939 season.

A change of pilots had been rumored for several days, but the announcement by President Donald Barnes caught even newsmen by surprise. It came less than two hours after the Brownies had won their second straight game from Washington to move out of the cellar into seventh place.

Luke took over immediately and said he expected to be coaching at third base this afternoon.

* * *

After President Alva Bradley of the Cleveland club fired Oscar Vitt, target of the Indians' rebellion last year he considered hundreds of candidates before narrowing the field to stoic Roger Peckinpaugh—who got the job—and Sewell.

Luke's previous connection with the club was believed to have cost him his chance at the post Reports were circulated widely when he signed in 1939 that he had been hired over Vitt's head and eventually would succeed fiery Oscar

LUKE SEWELL

As far as can be learned Sewell kept strictly on the outside during the turbulent days last season when the players ignored Vitt.

After Peckinpaugh was hired, Bradley said that in fairness to Sewell he could not offer him the manager's job

The 40-year-old Akron resident quickly became one of Peckinpaugh's key men, however.

Sewell came to the Indians directly from the University of Alabama in 1921. He later played with the White Sox, Senators and Dodgers, returning here as player-coach.

* * *

Bradley and Peckinpaugh said they had several men in mind for the vacated coaching job

Meanwhile Peckinpaugh nominated Al Milnar to face Boston today in the only game of a rain-shortened series. Mickey Harris was due for the Red Sox

Little Child Prepares to Lead 'Em In Open Tourney

By HARRY FERGUSON

FORT WORTH, Tex —(U.P.)—If it's true that a little child shall lead them, then the player to watch today as the field starts out in the National Open golf championship is Tyrell Garth, jr., of Beaumont, Tex

* * *

He is 15 years old, has a face that looks like it never had been touched by a razor and is the youngest person ever to shoot for the biggest prize in golf. Even in the days when Bobby Jones was known as the "boy wizard of golf," he did not get into the Open until he was 18.

It is going to be quite a sight when Tyrell tees off this afternoon. There will be no big gallery following him because the crowd will be behind the Nelsons, Hogans, Littles and McSpadens—the big shots of the game But Tyrell will have a gallery of two, and it will be a gallery that will be ducking behind trees, taking covers in bushes and using every known device of the old Indian fighters to keep the youngster from seeing them.

It will be his father and mother. Tyrell says it makes him nervous for his parents to follow him around the course, so they try to sit quietly on the clubhouse lawn and wait until he comes in. But Garth, sr., soon begins to fidget and then he and Mrs Garth slip out on the course and take up the trail of their son

"They'll be ducking behind trees and watching me all afternoon," Tyrell said, "but I don't mind that. It's just when they're walking along beside me that I get nervous I was playing a match in the city championship at Beaumont one time and they were following me. I lost, and ever since then they never get in the gallery behind me."

Tyrell has been playing golf for five years and has picked up a few minor titles. He spends some of his time in California and won the Southern California Junior championship.

But isn't kidding himself about his chances against the toughest players in the world.

"I'm just an amateur and a sophomore in high school" he said. "I guess I haven't got much chance in this tournament, but I'm just going out there and play the best game I can. I don't think I'm going to be nervous and I don't think this course is the hardest I ever played. I think Pebble Beach out in California is tougher."

Twin Softball Bill Booked

Two Games Skedded For Johns Park Sunday.

A twin bill is on tap for ball fans at John's park on Sunday afternoon.

As the first part of the doubleheader the Mansfield Athletic Supplies will tangle with the Barnes Challengers.

Stub Winebrenner Barnes strikeout artist, will mount the hill for the Challengers, while either Vic Phitzenmayer or Ray Bush will start for the Supplies

Manager John Burnes would like the following Supply ball players to be present. Adam Brandt, Robert Meeker, Tom Scott, Virgil Shaffer, Noel Morgan, John Weber, William Black, Dave Shelley, Joe Romano Don Rose, Dave Prion Ray Bush and Vic Phitzenmayer

NEW YORK — (The Special News Service)—Lou Gehrig always had a horror of public funerals, so his own was private. And the Yankees already have had one suggestion to call it Gehrig stadium from now on. . . . Add Leo Durocher to the list of those who've already counted the Reds out. . . . What would you say if somebody should pop up with a $50,000 golf tournament? Well, boys, one is being talked—and not in tap rooms, either.

DOTS AND DASHES.

Youngest starter in the open down at Ft. Worth today will be 15-year-old Tyrrel Garth, jr., of Beaumont. . . . Ford C. Frick and William C. Harridge presidents of the American and National leagues, are in favor of turning the Cincinnati-Cleveland exhibition game at Cooperstown next week into a Memorial to Lou Gehrig. . . . They figure the open crown is worth about 20 grand per year to the winner, although Sam Snead has topped that figure for the last four years without the title.

The Secret of the Marshbanks + + +

By Kathleen Norris

(Copyright, 1941)

CHAPTER VII

After their drive and tea, the girl usually had about an hour to herself while Mrs. Porter was dining in her room. At about eight Cherry went up from her own dinner to read to her old employer until half past nine o'clock. Then Ferny, came in to start the slow ritual of the sponge bath, the change of clothing, the alcohol rub, the administration of various pills and tonics and the carrying out of flowers, the opening of windows and lowering of lights that were all part of getting the old lady to bed.

At this time Cherry sometimes took Bender, the spaniel, for a walk around the block. She might meet housemaids and butlers out with other dogs; she rarely saw anyone else. But after the long, stuffy day it was 'treat enough to get out into the cool, fresh dark, and see the white streamers of the fog pouring in from the west and feel the wet sweetness of it on her face.

With her first sight of Emma, Cherry had had the feeling that the long years since they had met were as nothing and that she was a little girl of seven again, living in a small tiled house with a patio and a fountain, and running in and out of the bedroom where her mother lay always in bed. A thousand details, half forgotten until now, had rushed back to her, and she had longed for the moment when she might talk freely to Emma of the past.

But as the days went by she began to preceive that that moment might never come. Emma had given her a wintry smile upon meeting her; there never had been anything hostile or even unfriendly in her manner, but there was a great wall between her and Cherry, and over that wall the girl could not so much as peep. Emma's quiet uninterest, her unruffled calm and abstraction were too daunting for even Cherry's eagerness. Whatever there had once been between Emma and Cherry the old nurse conceded nothing now; she was civil, she was willing to discuss what was headlined in the newspapers and the trifling daily affairs of the old lady upstairs, but there she stopped. Cherry could not even frame the sentences that would lead to references to the past they had shared.

She and Emma had their meals in a small room off the big pantry downstairs. This room had been cut from the end of the conservatory that was full of ferns and begonias; it held just their table and their two chairs. But Keno and Fairfowl served them quite as daintly and carefully as if they had been guests at a banquet, and Ming Wo sent them in meals only too delicious and tempting.

Mrs. Porter spent long, contented evenings playing solitaire with her white, heavily ringed fat hands, and listening to Cherry reading The Heart of Midlothian or Little Dorrit. The Rosary was her favorite story, and she kept a copy near her, and she loved Tennyson's poetry and asked to have that read to her at odd moments but often she liked best to have the reading stop and to have Cherry watch her game and talk to her. At such times Cherry kept an eye on the clock and wondered if its hands would ever move around to half past nine.

At long intervals there was a dinner party at the house, and ten or a dozen smartly dressed men and women arrived to carry on the flattery and the attentive listening, to drink their cocktails with her upstairs and to descend to have dinner by themselves.

Altogether, what with shopping for her employer and infinite discussion and decision regarding the disposition and wrapping and marking of gifts and the manifold duties of the long day, the girl was busy enough. But it was not a satisfying busyness; it left her feeling wearied without having really accomplished anything.

To include any exercise at all in the twenty-four hours she formed the habit of rising early and taking a long walk about the streets or into the eucalyptus-shaded roads of the Presidio before breakfast.

In the freshness and sparkle of these winter mornings life seemed exhilarating enough. But after her breakfast the warmth and torpidity of the Porter mansion enveloped her again like a stupefying drug.

"I wonder," she wrote Anita, "how long this would go on? Emma—that's my old nurse, you know—has been in one job or another like this for years and years. Well, anyway, I got my first pay yesterday and I'm going to buy myself a hat I saw on Polk street. My love to everyone, Madeleine especially, and Elizabeth and all the Sisters and girls."

One day Cherry had an adventure. It came on a quiet, foggy afternoon when all the world seemed dull and quiet. Cherry was driving with Mrs. Porter when her old companion said suddenly, "Look there—wait a minute—stop him!"

Automatically obeying these instructions Cherry seized the speaking tube and Merryweather drew up at the right-hand side of the road. Then the girl saw that two bay horses carrying a man and woman were pacing along one of the bridle paths, and that the woman was Fran Marshbanks and the man Kelly Coates.

In response to old Mrs. Porter's gesticulations, and her voice at the window she was energetically lowering, the riders came close to the car and Fran gave Cherry her second careless smile and nod, and Kelly saluted her by touching his cap with his whip. He was presented to Mrs. Porter, and as the two women fell into a discussion of the list of patronesses for a series of concerts, he rode around the back of the car and chatted with Cherry at her own opened window.

"Well, Miss—I have to call you Cherry, I've forgotten the other name—" he began.

"Oh, do!" said Cherry, the dull park breaking into sparkles, the white winter sky turned June.

"Cherry then. What have you done to yourself? You look like another woman!"

"It's my hat," said Cherry. The Polk street creation was on her head, a picturesque hat that came far down over the streaked gold and brown of her hair.

She had on her favorite of the three dresses May had bought her, too—navy blue with two silvery clips that matched the belt clips. The brown coat was not perhaps an entirely fortunate note, but she loved the coat, and her happy feeling of this moment was that she was looking her best.

"It's more than your hat," Kelly assured her. "You've washed your face, too."

Her laugh rang out; he had not heard her laugh before, and as it had impressed Judson Marshbanks at the convent a month or so earlier, it impressed the younger man now as being extraordinarily fresh and pleasant.

"I was tired that night and dirty and I had on my convent uniform," she told him, suddenly serious. "I was horribly unhappy that night."

"Unhappy!" He was genuinely surprised and concerned.

"Yes. I—well, I was," she said, a little abashed now that she was embarked on confidence.

"But why? I thought you were sort of thrilled at coming down—Judge Marshbanks didn't tell us much about you, but I thought he said you'd been shut up in a convent most of your life."

"You're not 'shut up' in a convent," Cherry said loyally. "You're really freer than other people. Inside, you know"

His eyes were traveling over her face; he was only half listening. "I don't know," he said absently.

"Any way, I saw Amy—dressed and going to a party," Cherry pursued, too hungry for sympathy, too dizzy with the relief of speaking to someone at last on her own terms to be cautious, "and I'd never been in a house like that before, and I knew I didn't belong there. . . ."

"How d'you mean you didn't belong there?" he demanded, as she paused.

"Well, I didn't. I'd never seen a place like that."

"Like what?"

"Like Judge Marshbanks' house."

He looked at her a long time, thoughtfully. Or at least, if only for a few seconds, it seemed a long time to Cherry. She felt the warm color in her cheeks and the slow beat of her heart.

"I suppose that's true," Kelly said at last in a surprised tone.

"I'd read about girls making their debuts," Cherry pursued, warmed to the very soul by his attentive, half-sympathetic and half-amused look, "and orchids and all that. But somehow, just that night, to see her so safe and so happy and having such a wonderful time when I was homesick and tired and I knew I looked so awful . . ."

"Well, of course," he agreed quickly, as she paused in a sort of shame and embarrassment. "Amy, you mean?"

"Amy."

"She's not having such a wonderful time," he said. "It's all comparative. She thinks other girls are having a slightly better time, and that drives her wild. Mrs. Marshbanks, Fran, was speaking of it just a few minutes ago, and saying what fools girls are!"

"Oh, girls are fools all right," Cherry agreed meekly, and as the man laughed she laughed too.

"Mr. Coates," old Mrs. Porter said, breaking into the conversation and leaning across Cherry to catch his attention.

"Frances has promised to bring Amy to dine with me two weeks from Thursday, and I want you to come too."

"I'm a dead loss at dinners," Kelly said, laughing. "You'll never ask me again."

"Well, we'll see about that," said the old lady, in high feather. "But you come now! My nephew George's daughter, Dorothy Page-Smith, is going to be here—comin' up with her mother from Santa Barbara, where they tell me she's been breakin' all hearts, and I want her to meet Amy and some of the other youngsters."

"Jud may not be here; he gets back from Portland tonight," Fran said, "but he may have to go right back again. So Mr. Coates will squire me. I'll guarantee him."

"And you tell Mrs. Dickson to get Mary Trainor and Lizzie Block on that committee!" Mrs. Porter adjured her vigorously.

"I will. I've not been going to the meetings, more shame to me," said Fran, "but I'm going tomorrow and I'll do what I can."

"And you tell 'em Cherry'll send them my check for two hundred."

"I'll tell them." Fran did not say anything about the generous size of the donation. And Cherry fancied that her employer looked just a little dashed and disappointed as the riders cantered away on the bridle path again.

"We none of us understood," Mrs. Porter said then, in her sweet, wistful voice, "why Judson Marshbanks married Frances Unger—she's a very brilliant girl, but I don't think she's pretty, and she's 22 years younger than he is. Seems so strange!"

CORRECTION COSTLY

CHESTERFIELD, N. H.—(INS)—The 1940 federal census was wrong so taxpayers of Chesterfield voted an appropriation of $75 to defray cost of correcting the error. Chesterfield, with a population of 759, was credited with only 591. In order to guarantee that the town will keep its present status in representation and apportionment of highway funds, the $75 was appropriated to make the correction in the census figures.

NO APPETITE! NOTHING APPEALS! MUST BE THIS SPRING WEATHER
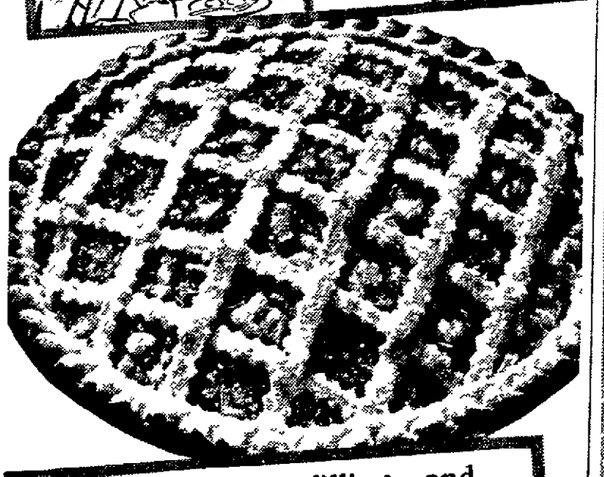
AFTER WHOOPEE! THIS TASTES SWELL. HOW ABOUT ANOTHER PIECE?



Such tasty, tangy filling—and tender, delicate Spry-crust lets you get the FULL flavory goodness

RHUBARB with grated orange rind—a perfect combination! Don't risk even a hint of off-flavor in the crust to spoil it. Keep away from ordinary shortenings. Use purer Spry for this and every pie you make!

Try Rosy Rhubarb Pie made the Spry FULL FLAVOR way

1½ cups sugar
3 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca
2 teaspoons grated orange rind
4 cups pink rhubarb cut
1 recipe Spry Pie Crust
1 tablespoon butter

Mix sugar tapioca orange rind and rhubarb (unpeeled). Let stand while pastry is being made. Roll ½ of dough ⅛-inch thick and line a 9-inch pie plate. Fill pie shell with rhubarb and dot with butter.

Roll remaining half of dough and cut into narrow strips. Place strips on top of filling to make attractive open top. Moisten edge of pie, place strip of dough around rim to hold strips in place. Pinch into a fluted rim or press together with tines of fork. Brush strips with milk and sprinkle generously with sugar. Bake in hot oven (425° F.) 50 to 60 minutes.

Spry Pie Crust

2¼ cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon salt
¾ cup Spry
5 tablespoons cold water (about)

Sift flour and salt together. Add ½ of Spry and cut in until mixture is as fine as meal. (See how easily Spry mixes!) Add remaining Spry and continue cutting until particles are size of a large pea. Sprinkle water gradually over mixture. With a fork, work lightly into a dough. Add just enough water to moisten. (Measurements level)

A Tip for Brides . . .
It Has To Do With Foods
Of all the little discouraging things that arise to jay the harmony of your first year of marriage, food and its preparation, will probably rank first.
If he is now enjoying his mother's cooking—that's one thing. If he is eating here, there, and everywhere—that's another thing.
Competing with short order cooks, hotel chefs, road houses, and dining cars, is child's play—but when you hear, "Gee, you ought to see how mother bakes pies, and roasts a chicken"—then, lady, you are face to face with real competition. Here's the tip. Ask his mother to let you shop with her. Study her pet recipes, go to the markets she favors.
Ten to one, she shops with our food advertisers, so all you need do is watch our food ads, and copy her recipes. You'll save many a tear if you follow this little program.

CHEER BROUGHT TO STREET BY TAX SHELVING

House Committee Action Delays Treasury's New Proposals.

NEW YORK—Scattered oils, aircrafts and specialties were able to register fractional gains in today's stock market but many leaders lacked progressive tendencies.

Prices were slightly mixed at the start in quiet dealings and variations either way were small near the second hour.

Wall Street seemed moderately cheered by action of the house ways and means committee in tentatively shelving the treasury's excess profits tax proposals.

Market analysts studied estimate that the federal government's contribution to consumer purchasing power was running at the rate of $9,000,000,000 annually. During April and May, it was figured, the excess of expenditures over receipts was around $750,000,000, or at about the level of defense outlays.

Further proof of the industrial bulge was seen in the Dun & Bradstreet summary of the country's bank clearings showing the year-to-year increase in the short week ended June 4 was the greatest recording in years.

Ghosts Return.

Comedy, mystery and romance are blended in the swiftly paced "Topper Returns," showing at the Ohio, with Roland Young in the familiar role of Cosmos Topper, who is continuously getting mixed up with ghosts. Billie Burke as Topper's fluttery spouse, Joan Blondell as a delightful ghost, and a cast that includes H. B. Warner, Carole Landis, Dennis O'Keefe and Rochester of Jack Benny's program head the cast.

Treasure Hunt.

The treasure hunt becomes a serious business in "Horror Island," mystery thriller at the Madison. Dick Foran heads the expedition in this production and the company spends a night of terror in a deserted castle before finding their quarry. Leo Carrillo, Peggy Moran, Fuzzy Knight, Walter Catlett and Lewis Howard are in the cast. Lon Chaney as the rubber robot in "Man Made Monster," the second film was weighed down by a 70-pound rubber suit for his role in the chill-packed production. Anne Nagel is also in the cast.

Dollars Disappear.

When he realizes he may be called to account for the disappearance of a cool five million dollars Hugh Herbert puts on his thinking cap in "Meet the Chump" showing at the Park, and the results are hilariously funny. Supported by an array of screen clowns including Ed Gargan and Shemp Howard the star is aided by a number of beauties headed by Dorothy Darrell and Jeanne Kelly. "The Kid's Last Ride," with the Range Busters is the second feature.

Sharecropper Saga.

Comedy and tragedy among the sharecroppers is forcefully depicted in "Tobacco Road," playing at the Ritz. The Jeeter Lester family is brought to the screen by an all-star cast headed by Charley Grapewin in the role of the irrepressible Jeeter and Marjorie Rambeau playing Sister Bessie. Gene Tierney and Ward Bond portray the lovers. "Ellie May" and "Lov Bensey." "In Old Colorado," is the co-attraction.

Arson Discovered.

As a fighting insurance company adjuster who uncovers evidence of arson in a spectacular warehouse fire Jack Holt is at his best in "The Great Swindle," opening Friday at the Majestic. One of the greatest fires ever photographed furnishes a highlight in the picture that has Henry Kolker, Jonathan Hale, Don Douglas and Sidney Blackmer. Richard Arlen and Andy Devine are cast as petroleum engineers investigating intrigue in their country's oil fields in "The Devil's Pipeline," the second attraction.

LONDON BABIES PLAY IN MANOR OF HENRY VIII

Ancient Syston Court Taken Over For Slums Children From Dockside.

MANGOTSFIELD, Gloucestshire, Eng. —(U.P.)— Little children from London who have never seen daylight until the roofs over their heads are bombed off and they are "blitzed" out of London into the country, are learning to talk about birds instead of bombers at Syston Court.

There they sleep in the same rooms which Henry VIII used 400 years ago. They were built in his father's reign for the entertainment of princes and nobles—now they house babies and toddlers from the worst of the capital's dockside slums.

Another historic home for the children is to be acquired and will be called the Sir Archibald Wavell Nursery, while Dauncey Park, in Wiltshire, where most of Queen Anne's ill-fated children were born, is to be a maternity home.

In all these houses, which are part of a scheme that may be kept going after the war, underprivileged people will find health as they are now.

Here are some of the children who, at Syston Court, are benefiting from the work of the sponsors of the scheme, the Anglo-American Relief Fund for London Children and Mothers:

Elsie and Anne, twins of 5 months, who never saw sunlight before they came to the mansion.

Six-months old Brian who had spent the whole of his short life in the cellar of a public house. Iris, 2, who had remained below ground for six weeks. John, aged 19 months, had remained rolled-up in a corner for weeks.

The older children there have seen terrible sights for their young eyes.

Mary, 5, saw her brother killed beside her, while Dick saw a bomb demolish a house in which two of his playmates were having tea.

"When they came here, they looked worried and nervous, as if the whole weight of the world's sorrows were on their shoulders," said American-born Lady Gunston, wife of Sir Derrick Gunston, M.P., and chairman of the Relief Fund.

"Their skin was yellow and wrinkled, and there were bags under their eyes.

"Some were given up by doctors, who said they had only a few more weeks to live. What troubles me is that recent arrivals seem in worse condition physically and mentally than the earlier ones.

"All those remaining should be got away at once!"

Says Nation Must Act To Correct Improper Diet

ATLANTA, Ga.—(INS)—The failure of many boys and men to pass the draft army's physical examinations, due to improper nutrition, shows a dire need for an improved diet throughout the nation, Dr. Robert V. Schultz, director of the health education of the Georgia Department of Public Health, asserted.

Pointing out that though many physical defects noted during the course of examinations in the defense program are not directly traceable to poor nutrition habits, Dr. Schultz declared that to a great extent it was true poor nutrition played a vital part in the existence and continuance of many of the defects.

The health authority urged the growth of leafy vegetables and encouraged home owners to raise their own chickens, hogs, cattle and lambs in order to increase the protein needed in the diet at a much cheaper cost than buying protein foods.

AUTO THEFTS DROP

CLEVELAND — (INS) — Auto thefts in Cleveland for 1940 have dropped to the lowest figure of any year since a special bureau was set up 13 years ago to handle the problem. When the bureau was established in 1927 almost 6,000 cars were reported stolen. Indications were that the 1940 number will drop to 1,000.

CORVALLIS, Ore. — (NS) — Graduates of engineering schools all apparently have good jobs in the Pacific northwest. This was the recent conclusion of R. H. Dearborn, dean of engineering at the Oregon State college who was forced to postpone a proposed special short course in aeronautical engineering as an aid in national defense. Dearborn said recent graduates contacted said they couldn't leave their jobs long enough to take the course.

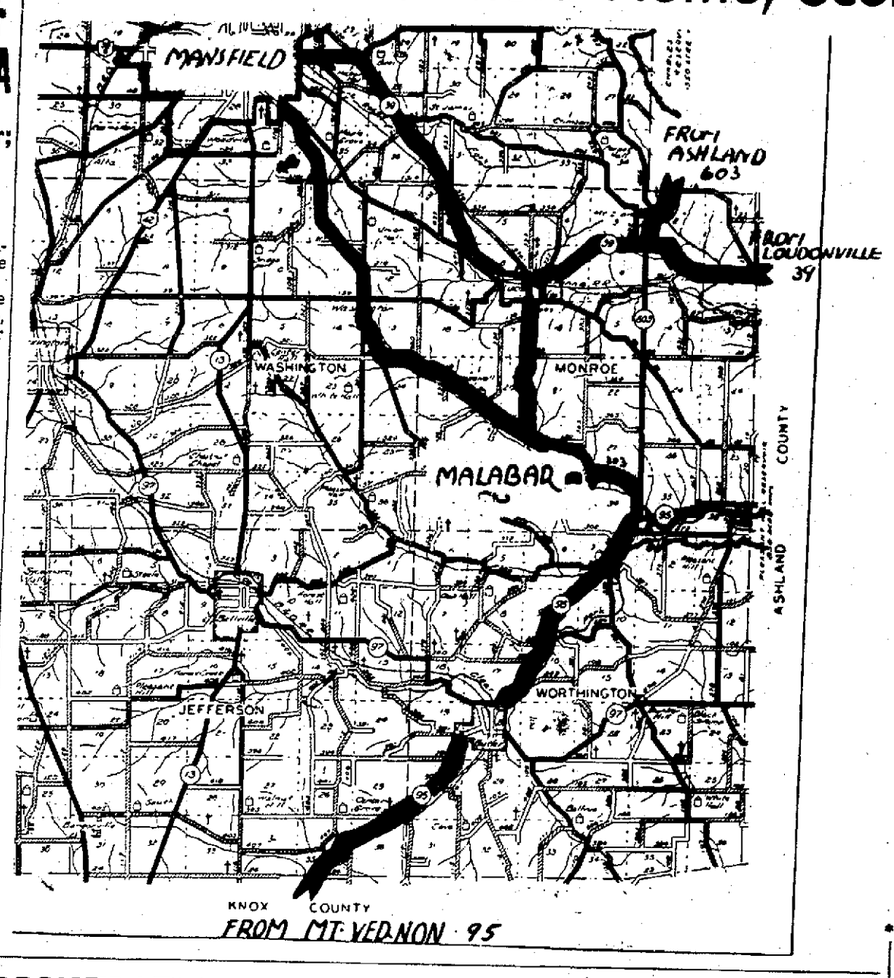
Routes to Bromfield Home, Scene of Malabar Carnival Saturday



The map at the left shows the roads to Malabar farm, home of Author Louis Bromfield, where the British War Relief society is staging a "Malabar Carnival" Saturday night to raise funds to help feed bombed-out British children. Two routes are shown from Mansfield, which persons from the city, as well as those to the north and east may use. One goes through Little Washington, and the other through Lucas. Ashlanders may take State Route 603 from Route 42 to Route 39 and thence through Lucas, which is the best road from that direction. Persons coming from the vicinity of Loudonville may also use this route.

Those coming from the south, around Mt. Vernon, should follow Route 95 to the junction with 303, turning left on the latter. Picture at the right shows the garden at Malabar, sloping sharply from the house. This will be one of the featured attractions at the carnival, which will start at 8 p. m. Saturday. Oliver C. Henkel, chairman of ticket sales for the event, again warned persons who have reserved tickets to be sure to pick them up by Friday noon. Only a scattered few of the 1,000 tickets for the affair are still available, he said. No tickets will be sold at the entrance to Malabar Saturday night.

Registration will open Friday for the Y. W. C. A. day time camp which will furnish 10 to 18-year-old girls with a full program of sports, handicraft, first aid training and Bible and drama study for a three-weeks period beginning Monday.

The Y. W. C. A. will be open for enrollment at 9 a. m. and all girls expecting to be campers this year are urged to register not later than Friday by Miss Norma Sheer, camp director. A fee of 25 cents covers the entire camp season with the exception of materials used in handicraft.

First Aid instruction will be given by Bernard C. Hardy, Richland county Red Cross First Aid and Water Safety director.

Marion Lee Birch, Miss Doris Peat, Miss Caroline Comer and Miss Gretchen Edwards will assist Mrs. Sayler.

ANTLERS, Okla.—(AP)—A farmer driving without a tail light and with only one headlamp was stopped by Highway Patrolmen Jess Faulkner and Charles Reese.

The officers asked to see his driver's license.

"There's my license tacked on the back," came the reply. "I never heard of a driver's license. When did they pass that?"

RETIRED BUSINESS MAN TELLS HOW BEE BEE'S RELIEVED 20 YEARS SUFFERING
Piqua Man Declares Famous Root, Herb and Bark Medicine Checked Long Suffering. Made Him Feel Like Old Self Again.
When a person has suffered for a long time from common ailments and has tried various things to get relief and all in vain, there is no wonder that when they finally succeed they are so grateful they want every one suffering the same way to know about it. Such is the case of Mr. Joseph S. Small, 64 years of age, of 118 S. Main Street, a retired contractor and a resident of Piqua for over 60 years. Mr. Small states:
"For 20 years I had trouble with my prostate gland and would have to get up from four to six times a night. My getting up so often disturbed my sleep and I felt tired and worn out in the morning and of course this loss of sleep was not good for my health. I had cramps in my legs and feet. These cramps woud come on me if I even turned over in bed and I would have to get up and walk around to put the weight on my leg so the cramping would be lessened. I am glad I tried Bee Bee's because it has been far more beneficial than anything I have ever used. I do not get up nights now and feel much better than I have in years. I give all the credit of my relief to Bee Bee's and I advise every one in the same condition I was in to take Bee Bee's and find out what a splendid remedy it is."
